Dean Moves To Get Korea Parley Going

Envoy Urges Reds To Begin Discussion Of Time And Place

PANMUNJOM, Oct. 29 (Thursday) (INS) — U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean proposed today that the Allies and Reds bypass formal adoption of an agenda and asked for a discussion of time and place procedure for the Korean peace conference.

Speed in arranging the conference became of paramount importance in the wake of a renewed threat by South Korea to push northward against the Reds unless the forthcoming political conference unified the war-torn nation by Jan. 28.

Dean told the Reds at a Panmunjom meeting today:

Not Standing On Form

"As long as your side is completely unreasonable in the matter of determining the official agenda and wishes to proceed with substantive discussions, for the sake of progress our side is willing to proceed for the time on this irregular basis.

"Accepting your lead, we too will discuss items on the agenda.

"We are not standing on form.

"We are not interested in matters of prestige.

"We are interested only in peace in Korea."

Dean added that he believed that discussions of agenda items should have a reasonable basis.

Dean proposed the formation of a committee to settle other administrative problems besides the time, place and procedures of the political conference.

Dean Appeals To Reds

"I appeal to your sense of reason and good justice to work this out in a calm, reasonable, sensible manner," he told the Reds.

"If you wish time to reply I am prepared to wait a reasonable time."

Dean appealed to the Communists not to "reject our proposal out of hand."

The communists, at the very outset of the preliminary talks at Panmunjom Monday, insisted that the delegations consider the question of inviting neutrals to the peace conference.

Dean told the Reds firmly he was not authorized to discuss the composition of the conference but was empowered merely to set the time and place.

Mother And Daughter 'Ascend' As They Pray

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 (AP) — A gray-haired mother and her daughter stood on the West Third St. bridge today, and the younger woman intoned part of the 139th Psalm, "If I ascend up into Heaven . . ."

Then they started rising slowly into the sky. The drawbridge was opening for a steamer on the Cuyahoga River.

The daughter jumped to the river bank and the mother clung to the bridge until it was lowered.

A spiritualist had advised the two to pray over water to cure the 67-year-old mother's speech impediment, and the daughter, 32, told police, she believed the "ascension" improved it.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Two subway-elevated trains empty of passengers collided tonight in Brooklyn and police reported one trainman killed. Another train worker was reported injured.

President May Take Hand In '54 Political Campaign

SENT RANSOM NOTE—Police Chief Bernard C. Brannon of Kansas City said 21-year-old Edward Eugene Long (above) has admitted sending a spurious ransom demand of $10,000 to Robert Greenlease the day after his 6-year-old son was kidnaped. No charge has been filed against Long, shown as he was questioned following his arrest yesterday. The Greenlease family received 16 ransom demands during its long ordeal but made no contact with anyone other than Carl Austin Hall, one of the confessed kidnapers. (AP Wirephoto)

Plans No Armed Forces Cut, Talk With Churchill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP) — President Eisenhower indicated today he may take a hand after all in the next year's political campaign.

Of course, the President told his news conference, he is interested in the Republican organization and in keeping Congress under GOP control.

A week ago, Eisenhower said he wasn't going to use the presidency as a campaign instrument in partisan elections and would stay out of strictly local political scraps. Today he gave the impression he might take the stump in 1954 for a GOP program in Congress, if not for individual party candidates.

No Plans For Military Cut

Covering a wide range of topics, Eisenhower said he has no plans for cutting U.S. combat strength, a special session of Congress to tussle with the general farm program, or a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill of Britain.

Nor has he changed his mind, Eisenhower made it clear, about sitting in on a big-power conference with Russia until there are indications of Soviet good faith and honesty of purpose.

On the positive side, there were:

1. An expression of delight that Israel has agreed to halt work on a Jordan river power dam, which has stirred up Arab neighbors, while the United Nations considers the project. As a result, Eisenhower said, the United States has decided to renew economic aid for Israel.

Policy Order To U.S.I.A.

2. A new policy order to the U.S. Information Agency to put before other peoples, without propaganda or antagonism, evidence that U.S. aims and policies will advance their own hopes for freedom, progress and peace. The U.S.I.A., said a presidential statement, also must "unmask and counterattack hostile attempts to distort or to frustrate the objectives and policies of the United States."

3. A word of personal and official pleasure at the visit of the King and Queen of Greece as dinner and overnight guests at the White House tonight.

When the conference got around to questions and answers, it even meandered into such matters as the President's health — he said he's "feeling fine"—and the high cost of living at the White House.

Special Session On Farm Issues Ruled Out By Ike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today only a renewal of the drought or some other disaster would prompt him to call a special session of Congress to deal with troubles afflicting the nation's farmers.

Eisenhower made the statement at his news conference on the heels of demands from some quarters that Congress return to Washington and set the legislative wheels in motion to bolster sagging farm prices.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said earlier the President should call a special session unless the Republicans come up soon with plans "to meet the crisis in agriculture."

Program Ready In January

The President said the administration's farm program will be ready to lay before Congress when the lawmakers return in January.

Indirectly, he tagged the Truman administration for the slump in farm prices which was reflected anew by the Agriculture Department's report yesterday that 1953 farm income will drop a billion dollars, or 7 per cent, below last year's figures.

The President said a decline in farm and cattle prices has been going on for a long time. The situation is being carefully watched, he said, but he sees no reason for a special session at this time.

Didn't Refuse To See Cattlemen

Eisenhower took occasion to remark it was not true he refused to see members of a "cattlemen's caravan" who besieged the Agriculture Department on Monday and Tuesday to plead for direct federal price supports for cattle.

The chief executive said he had been willing to talk with the stockmen if time permitted and there was any real reason for such a meeting. Certainly, he said, no request for a conference had come to his desk.

N. Y. Mayor Prods Milk Strike Talks

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri prodded peace talks today as a three-day strike cut off fresh milk from an area of 12 million persons.

Women huddled forlornly in a pouring rain early in the day, beseeching milk from depots that were dry.

"The milk strike is a matter of grave public concern," declared the mayor as he summoned deadlocked negotiators to City Hall.

However, the negotiators reported they were making progress in private talks and asked Impellitteri for a little more time to continue them. He agreed to put off a City Hall meeting for the time being.

Impellitteri's summons went to negotiators for 13,000 striking AFL Teamsters and 200 struck firms.

"It is imperative that responsible bargaining proceed without a moment's delay," the mayor said. "I will be personally available for any assistance I can offer."

General Motors Sales Highest In History

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—General Motors Corp., biggest of the world's industrial titans, sold nearly 8 billion dollars worth of its products in the first nine months of 1953.

That was more than the corporation ever sold before in any full calendar year.

At $7,931,000,000, sales for the nine months were 43 per cent above the $5,564,000,000 reported for the first nine months last year. They compared with sales of $7,549,000,000 for all of 1952—the previous record year.

Both sales and earnings for the nine months were the highest reported thus far by any U. S. corporation.

Cabbie Quizzed By Grand Jury In Kidnap Probe

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28 (AP)—A St. Louis cab driver told a federal grand jury today of a three-day drunken spree that cost the kidnapers of Bobby Greenlease their freedom and the possible disappearance of $300,000.

John Hager, the taxi driver who led police to Carl Austin Hall, 34, confessed kidnaper and slayer of the 6-year-old son of wealthy Robert C. Greenlease, said the jury listened for 4½ hours to his story.

It was Hager who drove Hall on a tour of taverns, found a woman to stay with him, and finally led police to a motel room where they arrested the kidnaper and seized half the $600,000 ransom.

Hall, and his companion in the kidnap-slaying, Mrs. Bonnie Heady, had collected the $600,000 here a week after taking the child from his private school, shooting him to death and burying his body in Mrs. Heady's back yard flower garden.

Then they drove to St. Louis, where they quarreled and separated.

Hall says he thinks Mrs. Heady lost half the money while in a drunken stupor.

The close questioning of Hager about the St. Louis escapades of Hall indicated the jury was hearing in minute detail any evidence that might throw light on the missing money. An indictment against Hall and Mrs. Heady for kidnaping is almost a foregone conclusion.

Lt. Louis Shoulders of the St. Louis police department, who resigned in a huff over a police board inquiry into alleged discrepancies in his reports of the arrest and handling of the money, sat in an outside witness room while Hager testified. With him was his landlady, Miss June Marie George, to whose home he said he drove on a personal errand shortly after the arrest.

Shoulders, before he went into the jury room at mid-afternoon said he would answer all questions, and added he had never said he would not. There have been reports that Shoulders got at least one other tip about Hall's movements besides the one from Hager. He had been quoted as saying he would not identify anyone who had given him information in confidence.

Sentence Of Bookie Kingpin Is Reduced

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The prison sentence of Harry Gross, confessed kingpin of a multimillion dollar bookmaking ring, was reduced today from 12 to eight years.

The reduction was granted in Brooklyn Special Sessions Court by Justice Bernard A. Kozicke, presiding; Matthew J. Troy and Myles A. Paige.

Gross pleaded guilty to one charge of conspiracy and 11 of bookmaking. He has served two years and one month, and with time off for good behavior, will serve another 39 months under the reduced sentence.

Hunt For Girl's Abductor Shifts To Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The search for the abductor of a 15-year old baby sitter, missing from a La Crosse, Wis., home since Saturday night moved to Milwaukee tonight with the discovery of two bloody shirts in a box at the North Western Railroad depot.

Police said Elvin Whitley, a bootblack at the depot, said a man left the box near his stand today and walked away.

Inside the box police found a white shirt and a tan shirt, both with blood spots on them. The box bore the name of a Northwest Side hosiery shop.

Police sent out this description of the man: Age 36, 6 feet, 180 pounds, well built but rather flabby, brown hair turning gray at the temples.

Meanwhile, at La Crosse, a bra, a pair of girl's panties, a man's shirt, and a pair of men's trousers each stained with what might be blood—spurred search parties today looking for the body or other clues to vanished Evelyn Hartley.

The daughter of La Crosse College professor and Mrs. Richard Hartley disappeared Saturday night from a baby sitting job.

The feminine clothing found by a railroad underpass two miles southeast of this Mississippi River city of 50,000 was of a size that would fit the missing girl. But it was not positively identified as hers.

26 Million Allocated

U.S. Ends 34-Day Ban On Israel Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The United States today ended a 34-day ban on American aid to Israel and allocated 26 million dollars to the new republic in the troubled Middle East.

President Eisenhower disclosed the move at his news conference, saying he was "delighted" to learn Israel had decided to abide by a ruling of a special United Nations Commission in Israel's dispute with Syria.

Later, Secretary of State Dulles announced the formal lifting of the ban he imposed on Sept. 25 after Israel refused to halt work on a Jordan River hydroelectric project, as requested by the U. N. Commission. Syria complained that the project diverted water along the Israeli-Syrian frontier.

Work On Project Halts

In Palestine, an Israeli government spokesman said work on the controversial project would suspend at midnight.

Rep. Javits (R, Lib-NY), who joined Sen. Ives (R-NY) in accompanying a group of seven American Jewish leaders to call on Eisenhower earlier this week, said in a statement praising the President's action:

"The President, with the world statemanship so typical of him, has given recognition to the fact that Israel is a staunch bastion of free world security and the Near East and in this way (is) effectively carrying out the objectives of the Mutual Security Program.

Opportunity For Peace

"The present troubles and the full United Nations intercession offer the best opportunity for Arab-Israel peace presented since 1948. The President's announcement cleared the air and reinforced United Nations' Near East peace efforts."

Dulles said he lifted the ban because Israel has pledged it "would in the future cooperate" with the United Nations in the water project dispute.

One Of Michigan Quadruplets Dies

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 28 (AP)—The last-born of the tiny Trollman quadruplets died today.

The infant, a boy, was the heaviest of the four children born to Mrs. June E. Trollman, 33-year-old divorcee. Weighing two pounds 10 ounces, it was born at 12:02 a.m. Tuesday.

The other three, two boys and a girl, were born within the last 10 minutes before midnight Monday night.

Attendants at Lansing's Edward W. Sparrow Hospital said the infant died of "immaturity atelectosis"—asphyxiation caused by incomplete development of the lungs.

The other three children "were doing pretty well" according to attendants.

Balky U. S. POWs Receive Letters

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 29 (AP) — The 22 U.S. war prisoners who, the Communists say, renounced their country have received their first big stack of mail from relatives which may persuade some to return home.

A reliable source said yesterday the United Nations Command turned 279 letters over to Indian guards on Thursday and the mail was distributed at once to the Americans.

Allied officers have expressed belief that letters from home will be far more eloquent than anything U.S. persuasion teams can say in face-to-face meetings with the captives.

While the Communist campaign to coax Chinese and North Korean captives back home has been stymied by a deadlocked repatriation commission, the United States has not even begun its persuasion work.

The U.N. Command also plans to turn over to the Indians tape recordings from relatives back in the states pleading with them to come home. It is not known if the repatriation commission will accept them.

Meanwhile Indian custodial officers played a waiting game in the bitter dispute between the Allies and the Communists over forcing North Korean prisoners to attend Red explanations.

6,113 Yanks Probably Died In Blood Bath

29,815 Estimated Killed In "Program Of Murder, Torture"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Army made public tonight a grisly story of Communist atrocities in the Korean War, reporting that probably 6,113 Americans died in the blood bath.

In what Secretary of the Army Stevens called a "cold-blooded program of murder and torture," 29,815 persons are estimated to have lost their lives.

The report was compiled by the War Crimes Division of the Army in Korea and backed by photographic evidence—pictures of horribly mutiliated American soldiers and airmen, windrows of bodies of South Korean soldiers and civilians, heaps of blackened corpses of men roasted alive.

There is "convincing and confirmed" proof, the Army said, that at least 138 Americans were massacred by the Korean Reds in October, 1950, during the evacuation of the Communist capital of Pyongyang.

Another atrocity cited in the report told the story of 10 U. S. marines who went out on patrol Jan. 29, 1951, and never returned. Their naked bodies, hands bound behind their backs, were found later in circumstances which indicated they had been used for bayonet practice.

Scores Died In Death March

The Army also gave details of a bare-footed death march from Seoul to Pyongyang in September, 1950, in which dozens of Americans fell down and died.

The report covered the period from the beginning of the Korean fighting through last June 30.

Its total figures for probable American victims of the Communist slaughter was not greatly changed from that issued in November 1951, by Col. James M. Hanley, then an officer charged with gathering information about war crimes.

The grand total of probable victims of what Stevens termed the "calculated brutality" of the enemy was placed at 29,815.

The 6,113 Americans were included among 11,622 United Nations military victims, 17,354 civilians and 839 others whose status could not be determined.

Statistical charts contained in the report showed that the great bulk of the atrocities occurred in the year beginning with the start of the war June 25, 1950, with the high tide of the Red blood bath coming during the first six months of the enemy advance.

North Koreans Most Brutal

The charts also showed that by far the greatest number of war crimes were committed by North Koreans (72 per cent). Only 27.3 per cent were charged to the Chinese Communists. Blame for the remainder was not fixed because the Army said it was unknown.

Of the total 6,113 probable American victims either already investigated or still under investigation, the Army said only 34 cases, involving many times that number of victims, have progressed to the point where evidence is complete for trial of war criminals.

It seemed probable that none of the criminals will be tried. The Communists who would have faced trial are gone. They were either released in the initial exchange of sick and wounded prisoners last May, or escaped in the mass breakouts from prisons last June, or were since exchanged in "Operation Big Switch."

Wayne Fight Ends In Draw As Divorce Awarded Each

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28 (AP) — The slam bang John Wayne divorce fight ended abruptly in a draw today when a peace loving judge awarded a divorce to each.

The end came fast once the husky screen hero had his day in court and accused his wife of a love affair with Nicky Hilton, the former husband of Elizabeth Taylor.

Mrs. Wayne took the stand in a brief rebuttal apparance during which she denied her husband's charges she was a drunken party goer who had to be dragged home.

Then Judge Allen Ashburn applied the so-called "humane principle" of divorce, under which California law permits the double decree. The little used law is reserved for cases where the cruelty charges fly fiercely between each party with no sign of concession.

Neither side is declared the winner of the decree. Mrs. Wayne had sued for separate maintenance and Wayne had filed a cross complaint seeking a divorce. She amended her complaint during the noon recess, paving the way for the quick and relatively peaceful finale to their six-year marriage. A property settlement was signed late yesterday which reportedly will give Mrs. Wayne $100,000 the first year and is scaled down in following years.

Mrs. Wayne, the former Esperanza Baur of Mexico, in her rebuttal, said Hilton spent a week at the Wayne mansion as her guest while her husband was making a movie in Honolulu. But she said she was only acting the role of good samaritan for actress Betsy von Furstenburg, Hilton's sweetheart at the time and also a house guest at the Wayne home.

Cost Of Living Hits New High Despite Drop In Food Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The average American paid more for his basic living needs last month than ever before in history.

That's what the consumer price index for September showed when it was released today by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The index—a composite of average retail prices paid for basic goods and services in 46 cities—crept to 115.2 per cent of the 1947-1949 average.

This was two-tenths of one per cent above the previous record level in mid-August. It was the seventh straight month in which the cost of living has inched upward.

The index now stands one per cent higher than it did a year ago and 13.2 per cent above the pre-Korean War level of June, 1950.

President Eisenhower was asked to comment on living costs at his news conference.

May Craig, correspondent for the Portland Press Herald and other Maine papers, inquired whether Mrs. Eisenhower had told him anything about the high cost of living in the White House.

The President said with a grin that he would not take up the time of the other reporters by repeating all Mrs. Eisenhower had told him about the high cost of living—for food particularly—in the White House.

His mood changed when Mrs. Craig asked him whether he wasn't going to pay any attention to the consumer in trying to solve the farm problem.

Why, the President asked tartly, did she suppose the administration is working so hard? The easy way would be to guarantee everybody everything they asked for, he went on. But he said he is trying to work for 160 million people and there has to be a balance in order to avoid trouble.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that food prices, which make up about one third of the index, dropped a fraction between August and September.

However, this was more than offset by increases in the cost of clothing, housing, medical attention, beauty shop services and other personal care.

Bishop Seized As He Tries To Smash Commandments

MURPHY, N. C., Oct. 28 (AP)—Bishop Homer Tomlinson, Overseer of one faction of the Church of God, was arrested here today while reenacting the self-appointed role of Moses destroying the Ten Commandments.

The object of the Bishop's wrath was a mountain near here covered with five-foot concrete letters spelling out the Ten Commandments and visible for miles in this western North Carolina mountain country.

The site of the Commandments is a shrine for another faction of the church headed by Tomlinson's brother, the Rev. Milton Tomlinson of Cleveland, Tenn. Homer lives at Queens Village, N. Y.

Now on a swing across the country, Homer Tomlinson announced several days ago that he would go to Cleveland, and "remove" his brother as General Overseer of the Church of God of Prophecy and then come here in an effort to destroy the Commandments at the Fields of the Wood. He did just that.

Arriving in a car from Cleveland, the bishop got out, took an 8-pound sledgehammer and strode over to the Eighth Commandment—"Thou shalt not steal."

Before a crowd of about 100, including Sheriff M. G. Crawford and other officers, the bishop swung the sledgehammer, chipping tiny pieces from the numeral "8" of the Commandment. After two blows the officers arrested him on a charge of damaging church property.

Brought here, 24 miles from the church shrine, the bishop told photographer June Glenn of the Asheville Citizen-Times, "I want to stay in jail to fast for seven days."

There is "convincing and confirmed" proof, the Army said, that at least 138 Americans were massacred by the Korean Reds in October, 1950, during the evacuation of the Communist capital of Pyongyang.

Another atrocity cited in the report told the story of 10 U. S. marines who went out on patrol Jan. 29, 1951, and never returned. Their naked bodies, hands bound behind their backs, were found later in circumstances which indicated they had been used for bayonet practice.

Scores Died In Death March

The Army also gave details of a bare-footed death march from Seoul to Pyongyang in September, 1950, in which dozens of Americans fell down and died.

The report covered the period from the beginning of the Korean fighting through last June 30.

Its total figures for probable American victims of the Communist slaughter was not greatly changed from that issued in November 1951, by Col. James M. Hanley, then an officer charged with gathering information about war crimes.

The grand total of probable victims of what Stevens termed the "calculated brutality" of the enemy was placed at 29,815.

The 6,113 Americans were included among 11,622 United Nations military victims, 17,354 civilians and 839 others whose status could not be determined.

Statistical charts contained in the report showed that the great bulk of the atrocities occurred in the year beginning with the start of the war June 25, 1950, with the high tide of the Red blood bath coming during the first six months of the enemy advance.

North Koreans Most Brutal

The charts also showed that by far the greatest number of war crimes were committed by North Koreans (72 per cent). Only 27.3 per cent were charged to the Chinese Communists. Blame for the remainder was not fixed because the Army said it was unknown.

Of the total 6,113 probable American victims either already investigated or still under investigation, the Army said only 34 cases, involving many times that number of victims, have progressed to the point where evidence is complete for trial of war criminals.

It seemed probable that none of the criminals will be tried. The Communists who would have faced trial are gone. They were either released in the initial exchange of sick and wounded prisoners last May, or escaped in the mass breakouts from prisons last June, or were since exchanged in "Operation Big Switch."

Special Session On Farm Issues Ruled Out By Ike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today only a renewal of the drought or some other disaster would prompt him to call a special session of Congress to deal with troubles afflicting the nation's farmers.

Eisenhower made the statement at his news conference on the heels of demands from some quarters that Congress return to Washington and set the legislative wheels in motion to bolster sagging farm prices.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said earlier the President should call a special session unless the Republicans come up soon with plans "to meet the crisis in agriculture."

Program Ready In January

The President said the administration's farm program will be ready to lay before Congress when the lawmakers return in January.

Indirectly, he tagged the Truman administration for the slump in farm prices which was reflected anew by the Agriculture Department's report yesterday that 1953 farm income will drop a billion dollars, or 7 per cent, below last year's figures.

The President said a decline in farm and cattle prices has been going on for a long time. The situation is being carefully watched, he said, but he sees no reason for a special session at this time.

Didn't Refuse To See Cattlemen

Eisenhower took occasion to remark it was not true he refused to see members of a "cattlemen's caravan" who besieged the Agriculture Department on Monday and Tuesday to plead for direct federal price supports for cattle.

The chief executive said he had been willing to talk with the stockmen if time permitted and there was any real reason for such a meeting. Certainly, he said, no request for a conference had come to his desk.

N. Y. Mayor Prods Milk Strike Talks

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri prodded peace talks today as a three-day strike cut off fresh milk from an area of 12 million persons.

Women huddled forlornly in a pouring rain early in the day, beseeching milk from depots that were dry.

"The milk strike is a matter of grave public concern," declared the mayor as he summoned deadlocked negotiators to City Hall.

However, the negotiators reported they were making progress in private talks and asked Impellitteri for a little more time to continue them. He agreed to put off a City Hall meeting for the time being.

Impellitteri's summons went to negotiators for 13,000 striking AFL Teamsters and 200 struck firms.

"It is imperative that responsible bargaining proceed without a moment's delay," the mayor said. "I will be personally available for any assistance I can offer."

General Motors Sales Highest In History

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—General Motors Corp., biggest of the world's industrial titans, sold nearly 8 billion dollars worth of its products in the first nine months of 1953.

That was more than the corporation ever sold before in any full calendar year.

At $7,931,000,000, sales for the nine months were 43 per cent above the $5,564,000,000 reported for the first nine months last year. They compared with sales of $7,549,000,000 for all of 1952—the previous record year.

Both sales and earnings for the nine months were the highest reported thus far by any U. S. corporation.

Sentence Of Bookie Kingpin Is Reduced

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The prison sentence of Harry Gross, confessed kingpin of a multimillion dollar bookmaking ring, was reduced today from 12 to eight years.

The reduction was granted in Brooklyn Special Sessions Court by Justice Bernard A. Kozicke, presiding; Matthew J. Troy and Myles A. Paige.

Gross pleaded guilty to one charge of conspiracy and 11 of bookmaking. He has served two years and one month, and with time off for good behavior, will serve another 39 months under the reduced sentence.

Hunt For Girl's Abductor Shifts To Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The search for the abductor of a 15-year old baby sitter, missing from a La Crosse, Wis., home since Saturday night moved to Milwaukee tonight with the discovery of two bloody shirts in a box at the North Western Railroad depot.

Police said Elvin Whitley, a bootblack at the depot, said a man left the box near his stand today and walked away.

Inside the box police found a white shirt and a tan shirt, both with blood spots on them. The box bore the name of a Northwest Side hosiery shop.

Police sent out this description of the man: Age 36, 6 feet, 180 pounds, well built but rather flabby, brown hair turning gray at the temples.

Meanwhile, at La Crosse, a bra, a pair of girl's panties, a man's shirt, and a pair of men's trousers each stained with what might be blood—spurred search parties today looking for the body or other clues to vanished Evelyn Hartley.

The daughter of La Crosse College professor and Mrs. Richard Hartley disappeared Saturday night from a baby sitting job.

The feminine clothing found by a railroad underpass two miles southeast of this Mississippi River city of 50,000 was of a size that would fit the missing girl. But it was not positively identified as hers.

26 Million Allocated

U.S. Ends 34-Day Ban On Israel Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The United States today ended a 34-day ban on American aid to Israel and allocated 26 million dollars to the new republic in the troubled Middle East.

President Eisenhower disclosed the move at his news conference, saying he was "delighted" to learn Israel had decided to abide by a ruling of a special United Nations Commission in Israel's dispute with Syria.

Later, Secretary of State Dulles announced the formal lifting of the ban he imposed on Sept. 25 after Israel refused to halt work on a Jordan River hydroelectric project, as requested by the U. N. Commission. Syria complained that the project diverted water along the Israeli-Syrian frontier.

Work On Project Halts

In Palestine, an Israeli government spokesman said work on the controversial project would suspend at midnight.

Rep. Javits (R, Lib-NY), who joined Sen. Ives (R-NY) in accompanying a group of seven American Jewish leaders to call on Eisenhower earlier this week, said in a statement praising the President's action:

"The President, with the world statemanship so typical of him, has given recognition to the fact that Israel is a staunch bastion of free world security and the Near East and in this way (is) effectively carrying out the objectives of the Mutual Security Program.

Opportunity For Peace

"The present troubles and the full United Nations intercession offer the best opportunity for Arab-Israel peace presented since 1948. The President's announcement cleared the air and reinforced United Nations' Near East peace efforts."

Dulles said he lifted the ban because Israel has pledged it "would in the future cooperate" with the United Nations in the water project dispute.

One Of Michigan Quadruplets Dies

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 28 (AP)—The last-born of the tiny Trollman quadruplets died today.

The infant, a boy, was the heaviest of the four children born to Mrs. June E. Trollman, 33-year-old divorcee. Weighing two pounds 10 ounces, it was born at 12:02 a.m. Tuesday.

The other three, two boys and a girl, were born within the last 10 minutes before midnight Monday night.

Attendants at Lansing's Edward W. Sparrow Hospital said the infant died of "immaturity atelectosis"—asphyxiation caused by incomplete development of the lungs.

The other three children "were doing pretty well" according to attendants.

Balky U. S. POWs Receive Letters

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 29 (AP) — The 22 U.S. war prisoners who, the Communists say, renounced their country have received their first big stack of mail from relatives which may persuade some to return home.

A reliable source said yesterday the United Nations Command turned 279 letters over to Indian guards on Thursday and the mail was distributed at once to the Americans.

Allied officers have expressed belief that letters from home will be far more eloquent than anything U.S. persuasion teams can say in face-to-face meetings with the captives.

While the Communist campaign to coax Chinese and North Korean captives back home has been stymied by a deadlocked repatriation commission, the United States has not even begun its persuasion work.

The U.N. Command also plans to turn over to the Indians tape recordings from relatives back in the states pleading with them to come home. It is not known if the repatriation commission will accept them.

Meanwhile Indian custodial officers played a waiting game in the bitter dispute between the Allies and the Communists over forcing North Korean prisoners to attend Red explanations.

Wayne Fight Ends In Draw As Divorce Awarded Each

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28 (AP) — The slam bang John Wayne divorce fight ended abruptly in a draw today when a peace loving judge awarded a divorce to each.

The end came fast once the husky screen hero had his day in court and accused his wife of a love affair with Nicky Hilton, the former husband of Elizabeth Taylor.

Mrs. Wayne took the stand in a brief rebuttal apparance during which she denied her husband's charges she was a drunken party goer who had to be dragged home.

Then Judge Allen Ashburn applied the so-called "humane principle" of divorce, under which California law permits the double decree. The little used law is reserved for cases where the cruelty charges fly fiercely between each party with no sign of concession.

Neither side is declared the winner of the decree. Mrs. Wayne had sued for separate maintenance and Wayne had filed a cross complaint seeking a divorce. She amended her complaint during the noon recess, paving the way for the quick and relatively peaceful finale to their six-year marriage. A property settlement was signed late yesterday which reportedly will give Mrs. Wayne $100,000 the first year and is scaled down in following years.

Mrs. Wayne, the former Esperanza Baur of Mexico, in her rebuttal, said Hilton spent a week at the Wayne mansion as her guest while her husband was making a movie in Honolulu. But she said she was only acting the role of good samaritan for actress Betsy von Furstenburg, Hilton's sweetheart at the time and also a house guest at the Wayne home.

Cost Of Living Hits New High Despite Drop In Food Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The average American paid more for his basic living needs last month than ever before in history.

That's what the consumer price index for September showed when it was released today by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The index—a composite of average retail prices paid for basic goods and services in 46 cities—crept to 115.2 per cent of the 1947-1949 average.

This was two-tenths of one per cent above the previous record level in mid-August. It was the seventh straight month in which the cost of living has inched upward.

The index now stands one per cent higher than it did a year ago and 13.2 per cent above the pre-Korean War level of June, 1950.

President Eisenhower was asked to comment on living costs at his news conference.

May Craig, correspondent for the Portland Press Herald and other Maine papers, inquired whether Mrs. Eisenhower had told him anything about the high cost of living in the White House.

The President said with a grin that he would not take up the time of the other reporters by repeating all Mrs. Eisenhower had told him about the high cost of living—for food particularly—in the White House.

His mood changed when Mrs. Craig asked him whether he wasn't going to pay any attention to the consumer in trying to solve the farm problem.

Why, the President asked tartly, did she suppose the administration is working so hard? The easy way would be to guarantee everybody everything they asked for, he went on. But he said he is trying to work for 160 million people and there has to be a balance in order to avoid trouble.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that food prices, which make up about one third of the index, dropped a fraction between August and September.

However, this was more than offset by increases in the cost of clothing, housing, medical attention, beauty shop services and other personal care.

Bishop Seized As He Tries To Smash Commandments

MURPHY, N. C., Oct. 28 (AP)—Bishop Homer Tomlinson, Overseer of one faction of the Church of God, was arrested here today while reenacting the self-appointed role of Moses destroying the Ten Commandments.

The object of the Bishop's wrath was a mountain near here covered with five-foot concrete letters spelling out the Ten Commandments and visible for miles in this western North Carolina mountain country.

The site of the Commandments is a shrine for another faction of the church headed by Tomlinson's brother, the Rev. Milton Tomlinson of Cleveland, Tenn. Homer lives at Queens Village, N. Y.

Now on a swing across the country, Homer Tomlinson announced several days ago that he would go to Cleveland, and "remove" his brother as General Overseer of the Church of God of Prophecy and then come here in an effort to destroy the Commandments at the Fields of the Wood. He did just that.

Arriving in a car from Cleveland, the bishop got out, took an 8-pound sledgehammer and strode over to the Eighth Commandment—"Thou shalt not steal."

Before a crowd of about 100, including Sheriff M. G. Crawford and other officers, the bishop swung the sledgehammer, chipping tiny pieces from the numeral "8" of the Commandment. After two blows the officers arrested him on a charge of damaging church property.

Brought here, 24 miles from the church shrine, the bishop told photographer June Glenn of the Asheville Citizen-Times, "I want to stay in jail to fast for seven days."

Nationalist China, Britain Blast Red Germ Charges

U. N. Condemnation Of USSR Demanded

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese scientist urged the U. N. Assembly today to declare the Communist charges that the United States used germ warfare in Korea are false and to condemn the Soviet Bloc "for their deliberate, malicious fabrications."

He demanded punishment of Communist officers for "the torture of the prisoners of war in extracting false germ warfare confessions."

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd joined the Nationalist Chinese delegate, Dr. H. R. Wei, before the U. N. Political Committee in denouncing the Communist germ warfare campaign. Lloyd said these "indecent" charges should be given a decent burial quickly. The United States has not asked for any formal action at this time.

Wei Accuses Russia

Dr. Wei, who has been the Nationalist Chinese delegate on the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission from its start, declared the Soviet Union "has master-minded the false germ warfare charges against the United Nations forces in Korea and carried out is malicious propaganda through its own media of mass communication and through its satellites and Communist machinery all over the world."

He urged the free world to take all necessary steps to uphold truth and justice. He called on the Assembly:

"1. To declare that the Communist germ warfare charges are false in order to tell the truth to the world and to clear the United Nations forces of the infamous, false accusations;

Accounting Demanded

"2. To instruct the representatives of our side at the political conference on Korea to call the enemy regimes to account and to have their officers punished for the torture of the prisoners of war in extracting false germ warfare confessions and to rescue those prisoners of war who are still alive; and

"3. To condemn the Soviet Bloc, and the Soviet Union in particular, for their deliberate malicious fabrications, in violation of the principles of the charter, of accusations for the propaganda of hate, such as the false germ warfare charges."

Ex-Bank Teller Repudiates His Theft Confession

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—A 26-year-old former Hagerstown bank teller today repudiated in Federal Court a confession allegedly given FBI agents that he squandered bank funds at horse race tracks.

"I didn't realize what I was doing. I was crying. I was upset," said Victor H. McSherry Jr.

McSherry, charged with embezzling $28,000 from the Nicodemus National bank at Hagerstown between April and December, 1952, was put on the stand by the defense at the first day of his trial here to counter a prosecution move to enter the statement.

Before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut admitted it into evidence Defense Attorney Fred Taylor contended that McSherry had been coerced, promised leniency and didn't know what he was doing.

Two FBI agents, E. Lawrence Hyland and James E. Ryan, testified that McSherry had accompanied them to the FBI office last Jan. 10 for questioning after a shortage had been discovered in bank funds.

They said he admitted taking the money and that they digested his admissions into a two-and-one-half page written statement which he signed.

McSherry, a father of three children and former finance officer in the Air Force, said he was promised he could go home if he signed the statement. He added that he didn't even read it and told the agents: "I'll sign it if that's what you want."

Ex-Russian Officer Tells Of Spy Rings

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The Jenner committee delved into Soviet espionage of the 1930's and 40's today, calling a number of witnesses in an open, televised hearing.

The star witness was a former Russian intelligence officer, who said there were up to 25 Red spy rings in this country in 1941 and "they may have expanded considerably during World War II."

Most other witnesses before the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) declined to answer a number of questions about Communist connections on the grounds of self-incrimination.

The former Russian officer, Ismail Akhmedov, who now uses the name Ismail Ege, told of his activities as a Soviet intelligence agent in 1941, mainly receiving reports on tanks and other technical data from the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

Negro Who Broke Out Of Store Gets Prison Sentence

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—James Edward Fowler, 25, has been sentenced to six months in prison because he broke out of a store.

Police said he got into the store by forcing the back door.

Fowler, a Negro, appeared before Judge Ben. C Willard in Criminal Court here yesterday on a charge of malicious destruction of personal property.

Accused of breaking a glass at the Dan Roberts Sundry Shop, Fowler admitted he broke the window but denied his action was malicious.

County Road Patrolmen R. M. Evans and Leo Joffre testified that Roberts, the store custodian, saw Fowler apparently trying to break into a juke box and began shooting.

Fowler ran through the front window, the officers said.

"Why did you break the window?" asked Willard.

"Because he was shooting at me," Fowler said.

"Did you break in there?"

First Of 14 Youths Freed Of Rape Charge

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The first of 14 youths to be tried on morals charges involving two young girl cousins was convicted today of perverted practices with an 11-year-old girl but was freed of a statutory rape charge.

Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith, hearing the cases without a jury, said he would defer sentencing of 17-year-old William L. Krug until the other cases are disposed of.

Meanwhile, a second youth, Charles Cooper, 18, went on trial on a statutory rape charge. The hearing will be continued tomorrow.

Four other defendants who were scheduled to be tried today also have been directed to return tomorrow. However, since most of them are expected to ask jury trials, it is expected their cases will run into next week.

This also delays the case of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, the seventh youth scheduled to appear on the charges. His trial originally was set for tomorrow.

President Gives Greece's Rulers Warm Welcome

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece arrived today, voiced warm appreciation of American aid in war and peace, and were welcomed to the White House by President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Extending his hand to the royal couple on their arrival at the floodlit north portico of the White House, Eisenhower said:

"May your stay here be an enjoyable one, and may you find as much pleasure in our house as we did in yours."

The chief executive and his wife were guests of the King and Queen in their Athens palace two years ago when Eisenhower was supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe.

King Paul and his petite Queen arrived by air from New York. A colorful array of troops from all four branches of the military service was on hand to welcome them. So were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Mrs. Dulles.

Then came a drive through streets, decked with the Stars and Stripes and the blue and white flag of Greece, to the District of Columbia Building in downtown Washington. There a huge bouquet of roses was presented to the Queen and an elaborately decorated key to the city was given to the King before a crowd of several thousand onlookers.

Tax Ruling Will Save HST Money

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Revenue Service has made a ruling which, it is understood, will save former President Truman a lot of tax money when he sells his memoirs to Life magazine at a reported $600,000.

The ruling is that the sale may be made on an installment basis, allowing payment to be spread out over five years. That means keeping payments down to yearly amounts which would call for tax payments at lower rates.

The Revenue Service would not say who was the subject of a ruling published in its weekly bulletin on the "sale of a literary composition, together with suitable material from which illustrations can be made" by a taxpayer who "is not an author by profession."

However, it was understood the ruling had been requested by Truman, and to be on the sale of his life story to Life magazine.

How much taxes would be saved by the installment payments was indefinite, because that would involve many other factors such as how much additional income the taxpayer has, whether he files joint returns with his wife, or separate returns, the number of his dependents and his deductions.

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 28 (AP)—Prague radio announced the death today of Mrs. Martha Gottwald, widow of the Czech President Klement Gottwald. tion of Pyongyang in October, 1950:

American prisoners were packed into open freight cars in the raw weather and moved for nine days northward without medical treatment and virtually no food. Many men succumbed to pneumonia during the ride.

On the 10th day the starving survivors were promised their first meal. "Their North Korean tormentors," the report said, took the men from their cars in small groups and led them to a ditch, where the men were told their food would be brought to them. As soon as the Americans had flopped on the ground, "their guards opened point-blank fire in cold blood with Russian-made burp guns and rifles."

The Americans who lived through the initial firing and still showed signs of life were then "dispatched by shooting or bludgeoning."

A few Americans survived by feigning death and were rescued when the Allies overran the Sunchon area the following day.

King Paul, dressed in a field marshal's uniform, said the main purpose of the visit was "to thank the American people for what they've done for us."

Life Terms Demanded For Two Ex-GIs Accused Of Wartime Slaying In Italy

NOVARA, Italy, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sentences to life imprisonment were demanded by the prosecution today for two former U. S. Army men being tried in absentia for the murder of their secret mission's commander, Maj. William Holohan, in 1944. Life is the maximum penalty under Italian law.

The Americans are ex-Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and ex-Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y. U. S. federal courts rejected Italy's requests for their extradition. Legal findings here would apply to them only if they returned to this country's jurisdiction.

Italian Prosecutor Alessandro Casalegna called for the life terms for the Americans and terms of 22 years and four months to 24 years for three Italian prisoners, all pro-Allied partisan fighters of World War II at the end of a four-hour summation.

Casalegna declared Icardi and Lo Docle were most responsible for the killing of Holohan, who had been openly suspicious of the Communists among the guerrilla bands his mission was to supply with money and arms to fight the German. His body was recovered from a lake near Trieste after the war.

The prosecutor described Icardi as a "loud speaker" who had contended Holohan must be eliminated and "the transatlantic gangster (who) planned the murder." Lo Dolce, accused of shooting Holohan after flipping a coin with Icardi, could easily have warned the major or the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) headquarters of the murder plans, "but he was not strong enough," Casalegna said.

Both Icardi and Lo Dolce have denied the charges.

President Judge Francesco Sicher said he will announce the verdicts by Nov. 6. The trial opened Oct. 19.

Lumber Dealer Pays Tax, Escapes Prison

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Samuel Frazee, Uniontown lumber dealer, has escaped a three-year prison term by paying the federal government $34,000 in back income taxes.

Frazee had been allowed 10 days to pay $30,000 in fines, plus court costs or go to jail. He pleaded no defense to a charge he evaded paying $153,000 in income taxes.

The lumber dealer claimed he filed amended returns prior to the government's investigation. Federal District Judge Joseph P. Wilson accepted the testimony in view of a jury's difficulty in reaching a verdict.

Farm Asset Decline, Liability Rise Seen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated today that total assets of American agriculture will decline 5.1 per cent in 1953 and that liabilities will increase by a similar percentage.

The department estimated assets as of Jan. 1, 1954, at $156,400,000,000 compared with $164,800,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1953.

Total liabilities were estimated at $16,700,000,000 as of next Jan. 1, compared with $15,900,000,000 a year earlier.

Despite the estimated 5.1 per cent decline during this year, the estimate of assets as of Jan. 1, 1954, is 46 per cent above 1946, the first postwar year.

Nationalist China, Britain Blast Red Germ Charges

U. N. Condemnation Of USSR Demanded

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese scientist urged the U. N. Assembly today to declare the Communist charges that the United States used germ warfare in Korea are false and to condemn the Soviet Bloc "for their deliberate, malicious fabrications."

He demanded punishment of Communist officers for "the torture of the prisoners of war in extracting false germ warfare confessions."

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd joined the Nationalist Chinese delegate, Dr. H. R. Wei, before the U. N. Political Committee in denouncing the Communist germ warfare campaign. Lloyd said these "indecent" charges should be given a decent burial quickly. The United States has not asked for any formal action at this time.

Wei Accuses Russia

Dr. Wei, who has been the Nationalist Chinese delegate on the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission from its start, declared the Soviet Union "has master-minded the false germ warfare charges against the United Nations forces in Korea and carried out is malicious propaganda through its own media of mass communication and through its satellites and Communist machinery all over the world."

He urged the free world to take all necessary steps to uphold truth and justice. He called on the Assembly:

"1. To declare that the Communist germ warfare charges are false in order to tell the truth to the world and to clear the United Nations forces of the infamous, false accusations;

Accounting Demanded

"2. To instruct the representatives of our side at the political conference on Korea to call the enemy regimes to account and to have their officers punished for the torture of the prisoners of war in extracting false germ warfare confessions and to rescue those prisoners of war who are still alive; and

"3. To condemn the Soviet Bloc, and the Soviet Union in particular, for their deliberate malicious fabrications, in violation of the principles of the charter, of accusations for the propaganda of hate, such as the false germ warfare charges."

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 28 (AP) — Harold Talbott, U. S. Air Force Secretary, arrived today for a 10-day inspection trip of air bases to be used by the Americans in Spain.

Ex-Bank Teller Repudiates His Theft Confession

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—A 26-year-old former Hagerstown bank teller today repudiated in Federal Court a confession allegedly given FBI agents that he squandered bank funds at horse race tracks.

"I didn't realize what I was doing. I was crying. I was upset," said Victor H. McSherry Jr.

McSherry, charged with embezzling $28,000 from the Nicodemus National bank at Hagerstown between April and December, 1952, was put on the stand by the defense at the first day of his trial here to counter a prosecution move to enter the statement.

Before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut admitted it into evidence Defense Attorney Fred Taylor contended that McSherry had been coerced, promised leniency and didn't know what he was doing.

Two FBI agents, E. Lawrence Hyland and James E. Ryan, testified that McSherry had accompanied them to the FBI office last Jan. 10 for questioning after a shortage had been discovered in bank funds.

They said he admitted taking the money and that they digested his admissions into a two-and-one-half page written statement which he signed.

McSherry, a father of three children and former finance officer in the Air Force, said he was promised he could go home if he signed the statement. He added that he didn't even read it and told the agents: "I'll sign it if that's what you want."

Ex-Russian Officer Tells Of Spy Rings

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The Jenner committee delved into Soviet espionage of the 1930's and 40's today, calling a number of witnesses in an open, televised hearing.

The star witness was a former Russian intelligence officer, who said there were up to 25 Red spy rings in this country in 1941 and "they may have expanded considerably during World War II."

Most other witnesses before the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) declined to answer a number of questions about Communist connections on the grounds of self-incrimination.

The former Russian officer, Ismail Akhmedov, who now uses the name Ismail Ege, told of his activities as a Soviet intelligence agent in 1941, mainly receiving reports on tanks and other technical data from the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

Negro Who Broke Out Of Store Gets Prison Sentence

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—James Edward Fowler, 25, has been sentenced to six months in prison because he broke out of a store.

Police said he got into the store by forcing the back door.

Fowler, a Negro, appeared before Judge Ben. C Willard in Criminal Court here yesterday on a charge of malicious destruction of personal property.

Accused of breaking a glass at the Dan Roberts Sundry Shop, Fowler admitted he broke the window but denied his action was malicious.

County Road Patrolmen R. M. Evans and Leo Joffre testified that Roberts, the store custodian, saw Fowler apparently trying to break into a juke box and began shooting.

Fowler ran through the front window, the officers said.

"Why did you break the window?" asked Willard.

"Because he was shooting at me," Fowler said.

"Did you break in there?"

First Of 14 Youths Freed Of Rape Charge

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The first of 14 youths to be tried on morals charges involving two young girl cousins was convicted today of perverted practices with an 11-year-old girl but was freed of a statutory rape charge.

Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith, hearing the cases without a jury, said he would defer sentencing of 17-year-old William L. Krug until the other cases are disposed of.

Meanwhile, a second youth, Charles Cooper, 18, went on trial on a statutory rape charge. The hearing will be continued tomorrow.

Four other defendants who were scheduled to be tried today also have been directed to return tomorrow. However, since most of them are expected to ask jury trials, it is expected their cases will run into next week.

This also delays the case of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, the seventh youth scheduled to appear on the charges. His trial originally was set for tomorrow.

President Gives Greece's Rulers Warm Welcome

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece arrived today, voiced warm appreciation of American aid in war and peace, and were welcomed to the White House by President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Extending his hand to the royal couple on their arrival at the floodlit north portico of the White House, Eisenhower said:

"May your stay here be an enjoyable one, and may you find as much pleasure in our house as we did in yours."

The chief executive and his wife were guests of the King and Queen in their Athens palace two years ago when Eisenhower was supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe.

King Paul and his petite Queen arrived by air from New York. A colorful array of troops from all four branches of the military service was on hand to welcome them. So were Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Mrs. Dulles.

Then came a drive through streets, decked with the Stars and Stripes and the blue and white flag of Greece, to the District of Columbia Building in downtown Washington. There a huge bouquet of roses was presented to the Queen and an elaborately decorated key to the city was given to the King before a crowd of several thousand onlookers.

Tax Ruling Will Save HST Money

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Revenue Service has made a ruling which, it is understood, will save former President Truman a lot of tax money when he sells his memoirs to Life magazine at a reported $600,000.

The ruling is that the sale may be made on an installment basis, allowing payment to be spread out over five years. That means keeping payments down to yearly amounts which would call for tax payments at lower rates.

The Revenue Service would not say who was the subject of a ruling published in its weekly bulletin on the "sale of a literary composition, together with suitable material from which illustrations can be made" by a taxpayer who "is not an author by profession."

However, it was understood the ruling had been requested by Truman, and to be on the sale of his life story to Life magazine.

How much taxes would be saved by the installment payments was indefinite, because that would involve many other factors such as how much additional income the taxpayer has, whether he files joint returns with his wife, or separate returns, the number of his dependents and his deductions.

Mrs. Gottwald Dies

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 28 (AP)—Prague radio announced the death today of Mrs. Martha Gottwald, widow of the Czech President Klement Gottwald. Mrs. Gottwald died from a serious illness in the Czech capital, the broadcast said. Her husband died in March of this year a short time after he returned to Prague from the funeral of Prime Minister Stalin in Moscow.

tion of Pyongyang in October, 1950:

American prisoners were packed into open freight cars in the raw weather and moved for nine days northward without medical treatment and virtually no food. Many men succumbed to pneumonia during the ride.

On the 10th day the starving survivors were promised their first meal. "Their North Korean tormentors," the report said, took the men from their cars in small groups and led them to a ditch, where the men were told their food would be brought to them. As soon as the Americans had flopped on the ground, "their guards opened point-blank fire in cold blood with Russian-made burp guns and rifles."

The Americans who lived through the initial firing and still showed signs of life were then "dispatched by shooting or bludgeoning."

A few Americans survived by feigning death and were rescued when the Allies overran the Sunchon area the following day.

ROYAL GUESTS ARRIVE — King Paul and Queen Frederika, of Greece, wave to greeters aboard the liner United States on arrival in New York yesterday for a month's tour of the U. S. The royal pair came at the invitation of President Eisenhower, who will be their host at the White House. King Paul, dressed in a field marshal's uniform, said the main purpose of the visit was "to thank the American people for what they've done for us."

Life Terms Demanded For Two Ex-GIs Accused Of Wartime Slaying In Italy

NOVARA, Italy, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sentences to life imprisonment were demanded by the prosecution today for two former U. S. Army men being tried in absentia for the murder of their secret mission's commander, Maj. William Holohan, in 1944. Life is the maximum penalty under Italian law.

The Americans are ex-Lt. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh, Pa., and ex-Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N. Y. U. S. federal courts rejected Italy's requests for their extradition. Legal findings here would apply to them only if they returned to this country's jurisdiction.

Italian Prosecutor Alessandro Casalegna called for the life terms for the Americans and terms of 22 years and four months to 24 years for three Italian prisoners, all pro-Allied partisan fighters of World War II at the end of a four-hour summation.

Casalegna declared Icardi and Lo Docle were most responsible for the killing of Holohan, who had been openly suspicious of the Communists among the guerrilla bands his mission was to supply with money and arms to fight the German. His body was recovered from a lake near Trieste after the war.

The prosecutor described Icardi as a "loud speaker" who had contended Holohan must be eliminated and "the transatlantic gangster (who) planned the murder." Lo Dolce, accused of shooting Holohan after flipping a coin with Icardi, could easily have warned the major or the Office of Strategic Services (OSS) headquarters of the murder plans, "but he was not strong enough," Casalegna said.

Both Icardi and Lo Dolce have denied the charges.

President Judge Francesco Sicher said he will announce the verdicts by Nov. 6. The trial opened Oct. 19.

Lumber Dealer Pays Tax, Escapes Prison

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Samuel Frazee, Uniontown lumber dealer, has escaped a three-year prison term by paying the federal government $34,000 in back income taxes.

Frazee had been allowed 10 days to pay $30,000 in fines, plus court costs or go to jail. He pleaded no defense to a charge he evaded paying $153,000 in income taxes.

The lumber dealer claimed he filed amended returns prior to the government's investigation. Federal District Judge Joseph P. Wilson accepted the testimony in view of a jury's difficulty in reaching a verdict.

Farm Asset Decline, Liability Rise Seen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Agriculture Department estimated today that total assets of American agriculture will decline 5.1 per cent in 1953 and that liabilities will increase by a similar percentage.

The department estimated assets as of Jan. 1, 1954, at $156,400,000,000 compared with $164,800,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1953.

Total liabilities were estimated at $16,700,000,000 as of next Jan. 1, compared with $15,900,000,000 a year earlier.

Despite the estimated 5.1 per cent decline during this year, the estimate of assets as of Jan. 1, 1954, is 46 per cent above 1946, the first postwar year.

Driver's License Remains Subject Of Investigation

Investigators of the Maryland Department of Motor Vehicles continued to probe the case of a driver who got a license on an application which listed him as a spastic paralytic and who two months later was in a crash that killed two women, including the sister of a Cumberland nun.

Miss Barbara Lorraine Zeller, 21, Baltimore, sister of Sister Mary Leonelle, who has taught the First Grade at St. Patrick's Parochial School here for three years, died October 11 in the accident on the Reisterstown Road near Pikesville.

The investigation was touched off when residents of the Pikesville area demanded to know how Daniel Walderman, 32, Baltimore, obtained an operator's license.

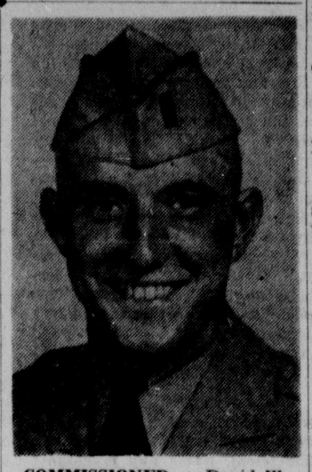

Miss Zeller was riding in the front seat of a car driven by William J. Fleagle, 26, also of Baltimore. Death was instantaneous.

Police, who later charged Walderman with manslaughter, said his car suddenly veered to the right, struck a post and then shot back across the road into a head-on collision with Fleagle's auto.

Walderman, authorities said, wrote "spastic paralysis—no loss of coordination" on his application for a license last June 29. Files showed no record of any medical board hearing to determine the degree of spastic condition.

On July 29, Walderman took a driver's test and failed. Five days later he returned and was passed.

Under Maryland's present system, drivers are not required to pass further tests after they once receive a permit.

Thomas Hott Given Sentence In Jail

Thomas Carl Hott, 24, of Bowman's Addition, was giver a 40-day jail sentence yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court for driving without a license and using tags issued to another vehicle. He pleaded guilty.

Criminal Investigator William F. Baker of the State Police picked him up yesterday morning.

On October 10, Hott was give a suspended term of six months i the Maryland House of Cor ection and paroled for two years on charges of securing an auto by "false means."

At that time, Magistrate Donald W. Mason said, the defend t went to a used car lot to try out a car. He left at noon and failed to return until 5 p. m., depriving the owner use of the machine.

Civil Service Office Planned At City Hall

The city's Civil Service Commission will soon have an office of its own in Room 13 of City Hall.

Work on the new headquarters is underway and Mrs. Leah Hafer, commission chairman, said yesterday morning it is hoped to move records in within a short time.

A request for an office had been made to the Mayor and Council, Mrs. Hafer continued, basically in an effort to get all commission records in one place. Presently some are in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves and others in the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery who is also commission secretary.

With the records in one place, Mrs. Hafer said, the concentration of data will enable her group to effect more efficient and workable plans.

Because of the job classification work which is underway, Mrs. Hafer said that a part-time secretary will probably be necessary to keep cards up to date. This will not necessitate hiring a new employe as it is felt one of the regular secretaries at City Hall can handle the job in spare time.

Mrs. Hafer pointed out that the Civil Service law calls for a job classification and personnel records.

The job classification project was undertaken last June on a spare-time basis by one personnel official of each the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, Celanese Corporation of America and Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Mrs. Hafer said the task is tremendous and added that progress is being made.

The office will be used for meetings of the commission, she added. Other members are Ralph R. Webster and Fred Ryan.

Will Assist Veterans

C. C. Fleenor, deputy director of the West Virginia Department of Veterans' Affairs, will visit two nearby Mineral County towns November 12 to assist war veterans, their dependents or beneficiaries with government benefits to which they may be entitled.

Fleenor will be at the American Legion Home in Ridgeley, and at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home in Fort Ashby.

Pupils Plant Trees To Beautify School

John Humbird School pupils have undertaken a project to beautify their school yard by having each class plant a tree.

The plan is an outgrowth of a Sixth Grade unit on conservation and through this tree-planting the children learn about soil, fertilizer and other related information.

Recently the Third Grade, with Mrs. Elizabeth Rank, the teacher, watched the planting of a tree in the rear of the school under supervision of a shrubbery expert.

Miss Zeller was riding in the front seat of a car driven by William J. Fleagle, 26, also of Baltimore. Death was instantaneous.

Police, who later charged Walderman with manslaughter, said his car suddenly veered to the right, struck a post and then shot back across the road into a head-on collision with Fleagle's auto.

Walderman, authorities said, wrote "spastic paralysis—no loss of coordination" on his application for a license last June 29. Files showed no record of any medical board hearing to determine the degree of spastic condition.

On July 29, Walderman took a driver's test and failed. Five days later he returned and was passed.

Under Maryland's present system, drivers are not required to pass further tests after they once receive a permit.

Civil Service Office Planned At City Hall

The city's Civil Service Commission will soon have an office of its own in Room 13 of City Hall.

Work on the new headquarters is underway and Mrs. Leah Hafer, commission chairman, said yesterday morning it is hoped to move records in within a short time.

A request for an office had been made to the Mayor and Council, Mrs. Hafer continued, basically in an effort to get all commission records in one place. Presently some are in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves and others in the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery who is also commission secretary.

With the records in one place, Mrs. Hafer said, the concentration of data will enable her group to effect more efficient and workable plans.

Because of the job classification work which is underway, Mrs. Hafer said that a part-time secretary will probably be necessary to keep cards up to date. This will not necessitate hiring a new employe as it is felt one of the regular secretaries at City Hall can handle the job in spare time.

Mrs. Hafer pointed out that the Civil Service law calls for a job classification and personnel records.

The job classification project was undertaken last June on a spare-time basis by one personnel official of each the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, Celanese Corporation of America and Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Mrs. Hafer said the task is tremendous and added that progress is being made.

The office will be used for meetings of the commission, she added. Other members are Ralph R. Webster and Fred Ryan.

Will Assist Veterans

C. C. Fleenor, deputy director of the West Virginia Department of Veterans' Affairs, will visit two nearby Mineral County towns November 12 to assist war veterans, their dependents or beneficiaries with government benefits to which they may be entitled.

Fleenor will be at the American Legion Home in Ridgeley, and at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home in Fort Ashby.

Pupils Plant Trees To Beautify School

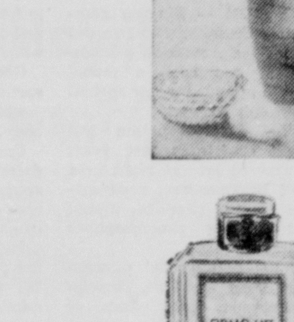

John Humbird School pupils have undertaken a project to beautify their school yard by having each class plant a tree.

The plan is an outgrowth of a Sixth Grade unit on conservation and through this tree-planting the children learn about soil, fertilizer and other related information.

Recently the Third Grade, with Mrs. Elizabeth Rank, the teacher, watched the planting of a tree in the rear of the school under supervision of a shrubbery expert.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Rosenbaum's.

Hatred By The Book

Last May 8, the East German Communist party listed 178 terms of abuse verboten to the comrades in their comments on the United States and other nations of the West. The list amounted to an admission of the lengths to which the Cominform's hate-America campaign had gone, but its suppression fooled only the most gullible. Some elements in the Kremlin obviously needed a breathing spell.

Now a new list of permissible epithets has been issued by German Communists. There is one set to be applied to Americans, another to Britons, and so on. These "general expressions" are to be used by party officials, the order says. They are "well suited for use in popular gatherings and discussion groups in view of their picturesque nature."

Americans, for instance, may now be called "monkey killers." Picturesque, eh? Or "exploiters of epidemics." Or "lice breeders." or "mass poisoners." The Moscow leaders of the unsoaped have a great taste for the picturesque.

"Boogie-woogie tramps" is a little better. "Chewing-gum characters" may have a touch of the picturesque, and "delirious lunatics"—i.e., dizzy dopes—at least has a touch of lightness. But most of the expressions which party officials must now use against Americans drip with venom. For instance: "Mass poisoners, gas-chamber ideologists, breeders of trichinosis, arsenic mixers, leprous heroes, exploiters of epidemics."

What these add up to is that Americans are demented fiends. The party line on Britons is a bit different. They are to be called "conceited dandies, paralytic sycophants, carrion-eating servile imitators, playboy soldiers" and similar sansculotte epithets. Also "gang of women murderers." Also "archcowards and collaborators." Also, quaintly enough, by the traditional sneer of aristocrats against their aroused people —"degenerate rabble."

The alert reader will have noted one curious thing about these official epithets. Communist propaganda generally attacks the "ruling circles" of non-Communist nations, but proclaims love for the workers and the people of the same countries. These epithets, however, are aimed at the people and the workers of Britain and America. Total hatred is the party line now.

Safer, If Not Fewer

The best way to avoid being killed or seriously injured in an automobile accident is not to have one. But this, like most gratuitous advice, is easier to preach than to practice.

Cars are not mechanically infallible, roads are not always safe or in perfect repair, drivers are subject to wavering attention or slow reflexes. And a perfect driver in a perfect car on a perfect road may be trapped by the unpredictable and unavoidable madness of another motorist.

Cars and roads, and drivers, have been made safer. Speed and safety regulations are better enforced than formerly. In terms of miles driven, auto accidents are being reduced. But how much further is it possible to go along these lines? Has the time come to shift emphasis from outright prevention of smashups to making them less deadly?

William W. Harper of Pasadena, who has investigated thousands of accidents for insurance companies and police, thinks so. Most of the victims of the accidents he has looked into could have been spared serious injury, he believes, if certain precautions had been taken.

Two types of injuries, he insists, could be made less serious—and the two add up to 80 or 90 per cent of serious injuries. One type is the result of being thrown around inside the car, the other from being thrown out of the car. Both types could be prevented in a great many cases by wearing safety belts.

Car interiors, Harper says, should be designed for safety. Attaching car seats firmly would protect many car passengers from being propelled into windshields. Projecting knobs on the dashboard may look small and harmless, but they have fatally penetrated many a skull when a crash came.

With such precautions, if they worked as well as Harper anticipates, serious injuries or fatalities in automobile accidents could be reduced 80 or 90 per cent.

Cliffhanger Football

The National Collegiate Athletic Association is still trying to work out a compromise between diminishing gate receipts at college games and the drawing power of television. The NCAA is beset on one side by college athletic directors who say that TV is killing them financially, and on the other by a possible government anti-trust suit for refusing individual members of the NCAA the right of telecasting games on their own.

Saturday's experiment was still another effort to discover whether the fans like what they see. Instead of the "game of the week," fans across the nation saw portions of four good games. Games televised in part were one Eastern, two Midwest and one Southern.

To accomplish this sports extravaganza the National Broadcasting Company set up an elaborate control center at Chicago into which the games were fed direct from the four stadiums. Fans saw the first portion of the Cornell-Princeton game, which started first, then the Midwestern and Southern games. Thereafter the fans were taken from one game to another, the switch being dictated by the interest of the moment.

It may be that this type of program is the answer to the NCAA's problems, but this is doubtful. The majority of people who view football via TV are proponents of one team, or one conference, or one section.

How is it possible for a viewer to keep the games straight with constant switching from one to another? There may be a cliffhanger finish, with the score tied and the clock running out. Will the NCAA gain many friends if the screen suddenly dissolves to show another game?

Editorialgraphs

That New York racketeer who continued to operate from prison appears to have known guys who knew guys, judging by the list of his visitors.

If requests for Agriculture Secretary Benson's resignation were limited to those willing to replace him the number would drop off sharply.

Communist agents smuggled U. S. engraving plates out of the country on which were printed hundreds of millions of dollars worth of occupation currency. Stealing the gold at Fort Knox would have been more trouble, presumably.

Poor Eyesight Plagued Pepys And Johnson

Historians usually stress the deeds of famous men and omit the trifling details that make them human beings. Samuel Pepys, for example, had to stop writing his diary when he was 36 years old because of failing vision. He behaved like any one else who begins to have difficulty seeing on reaching middle age and finds that glasses are in order. Pepys was unable to obtain the lenses he needed even after consulting the greatest spectacle maker of that era.

Early in life Pepy's right eye was injured while firing a cannon in the salute to Charles II but the mishap apparently was not serious. Later, his eyes were bothered by light and he was unable to read for more than a few minutes. According to the English ophthalmologist, Dr. P. H. Beattie, even the lighted candles at the theater led to pain altho he tried green spectacles, oiled paper, and an eyeshade as protective devices. The condition also was aggravated by drinking too much. In those days, bloodletting was a cure-all and the fact that relief followed the removal of 14 ounces of blood makes us wonder how much of his trouble was psychological in origin.

Nevertheless, the inability to read and write proved incapacitating to the young author. He had tried everything the times offered, including the use of paper tubes invented by a man who was going blind with cataracts and who wrote in the local press about the help he received from this gadget. But Pepys was not benefited because, to the best of our knowledge, he was farsighted and had marked astigmatism. As he grew older he appeared to develop second sight and improved sufficiently to study and attend his official duties until his death at age 70.

Samuel Johnson also had eye trouble dating from birth. He stated in his autobiografy that he came into the world "a poor diseased infant almost blind." In his second year of life he was taken to an oculist and six months later, a diagnosis of tuberculosis of the glands of the neck was made. He was taken to Queen Anne for the "royal touch," which did no good; the piece of gold given him at the ceremony is among the treasures of the British museum today.

The glandular tuberculosis suggests that Johnson's eyes may have been afflicted with the same disease. They were sore as tho he had conjunctivitis and, in addition, there was poor vision in one eye which ultimately became useless. His marked nearsightedness and astigmatism forced him to scrutinize closely every one he met and everything he saw. Feelings were hurt by this mannerism, particularly when an artist asked him to comment on a portrait or landscape. Once while seated at the table next to the celebrated Mrs. Cholmondeley he "took hold of her hand in the middle of dinner and held it close to his eye, wondering at the delicacy and whiteness, till with a smile she asked, 'Will you give it to me again when you have done with it?' "

All of us have encountered individuals with defects of this nature and it is fun to speculate what our modern women might have thought on being introduced to Dr. Johnson. His actions might have labeled him a silly old fool unless it was realized that he could not see.

VITAMIN B12 AND WEIGHT

T. L. writes: Will taking vitamin B12 help to put on weight?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. Several years ago we published an article on how this vitamin was being used to stimulate the growth of children. Since then I have not seen any follow-up reports and it may be that the substance is not living up to the original hopes along this line.

SPINAL CORD CHANGES

J. M. writes: What causes degenerative changes in the spinal cord?

REPLY

The cause is not known although in some types it is believed that the circulation to the spinal cord is faulty. Each degenerative area represents a patch that has lost its circulation through hemorrhage or clot in a blood vessel.

SWOLLEN FINGERS

T. V. writes: Can a person have dropsy of the fingers?

REPLY

Yes, but in most instances it occurs as part of a generalized dropsy. The fingers may swell when a vein is obstructed in much the same way as puffiness of the legs after a clot develops in a vein in this area.

HEAD LICE

Mrs. R. writes: Are some children more susceptible than others to head lice?

REPLY

The dirty child is more susceptible but, in the right set of circumstances, few of us would escape. Some persons seem to be more attracted to insects than others, and this may apply also to lice.

Frankie Costello Leaving Prison Today; Cattlemen Cool Toward Benson's Canned Meat; Ex-Senator McKellar Reminisces About Ike

WASHINGTON — Kingpin gambler Frankie Costello, who gets out of Milan, Mich., federal penitentiary today, has been a model prisoner. He received a few special favors, but only a few.

When he entered prison two days after Christmas last year, Costello arrived late at night in a Bureau of Prison's bus, a departure from normal practice, aimed to avoid waiting photographers and newsmen.

During his two weeks' quarantine in the admission unit, Costello was bombarded with offers of candy, cigarets, magazines from other prisoners. To them he was a hero. He turned all offers down, made it plain he wanted to be an ordinary prisoner.

After quarantine Costello was assigned to the white cell-house instead of the usual dormitory. There is a waiting list for the white cell-house and prisoners get on the list because of merit. Frankie, however, didn't have to wait. He found on arrival that three inmates had completely scrubbed down the cell for him, at which point he decided to follow the line of least resistance and let others work for him if they wanted to.

Costello's prison job was that of sorting other inmates' dirty socks —which got a laugh from everybody.

Costello was paid considerable deference by the guards, but was never placed on meritorious good time—a status whereby a prisoner can reduce his sentence for exceptionally good work. He was allowed the privilege of having visits from his attorneys, which, aside from admission to the white cell-house instead of the dormitory, was about the only privilege he got.

Once during his incarceration, Costello was taken to New York City under guard to face an income tax charge.

Upon release from Milan today, Costello faces possible deportation.

On July 21, 1947, this writer reported that Costello had falsified his naturalization papers when he stated that he had never been previously convicted — having been convicted of carrying a concealed weapon. Subsequent investigation caused Attorney General James McGranery to place Costello on the list for deportation.

It is not known as yet what action Attorney General Brownell will take on this aspect of the Costello case.

Beef For Schools

As a result of falling cattle prices, American school children are now eating more canned meat than ever before in history. For what harassed Secretary of Agriculture Benson is doing is buying up canned beef and turning it over to the school lunch program. He is also buying great quantities of canned meat for the armed services.

While this is helpful, it doesn't satisfy the cattlemen. They point out that this program supports the meat-packers but not necessarily the farmer. The spread between what the farmer gets for cattle on the hoof and what the housewife pays for meat is too great.

On the other hand, poor Erza Benson is betwixt and between. If he buys surplus cattle he has to feed them—and he can't put many head of Herefords out in front of the Washington Monument to graze. Or if he buys cattle and slaughters them he has to store the carcasses, and refrigeration costs money.

Military Buck-Passing

Tennessee's famed ex-Sen. Kenneth McKellar returned to Washington the other day to "protect" TVA from the power lobbies.

During his 42 years on Capitol Hill McKellar participated in more back-stage maneuvers and closed-door sessions than any man alive today.

Despite his age, generally believed to be about 85, McKellar's memory is remarkable, and at lunch the other day, he launched on one of his oral trips through history.

"Y'know," he said, "most military men delegate too much authority. They let somebody else do the job for them.

"Back toward the end of the Hoover administration, I was on the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee that handled Army funds. One day the chief of staff, General MacArthur, came up to testify. He brought two generals, a colonel and a major with him.

"MacArthur was always a good witness," McKellar recalled. "He had most of the answers on his fingertips. But finally Senator McNary of Oregon stumped him with a question about Army research on new gun mounts. General MacArthur and his aides all turned to the major for the answer. But the major didn't know the answer.

"Well, that major gave us a big, friendly smile and said he'd have his staff dig up the answer and get it to the committee.

"A couple of weeks passed and we still didn't have the answer," McKellar continued. "It was time to make out our report so we phoned General MacArthur. He explained that the major was handling the whole matter. A staff member phoned the major and was told that a lieutenant was working on the answer.

"Well, finally just before we sent our report to the printer, a lieutenant arrived with the answer on the gun mounts. Everybody in the Army, it seems, had pushed the job off on his assistant. The lieutenant was the only man who knew what was going on. Not even the major knew the answer, yet he was the man who had promised to bring us the information. The major just delegated too much of his own work to his subordinates—and they let him down.

"That little story is interesting today," McKellar added with a grin. "The major's name was Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Thomas E. Dewey's reported decision not to run for re-election as governor of New York in November 1954 is an important development in national politics. He is known to have made up his mind last year that he wouldn't run again, but he has deferred any announcement and probably will not make it formally till next spring.

The significance of the Dewey retirement may be this: the New York governor will be able to take a position in the Eisenhower cabinet if a vacancy develops. Then, if President Eisenhower decides not to be a candidate for renomination, the opportunity would be open to Mr. Dewey to try for the nomination from inside the government. As a cabinet officer, he would be in the limelight and would be getting valuable experience in national affairs.

Four Years Enough Perhaps

For several months now—particularly since President Eisenhower made a cryptic remark at a public dinner attended earlier this year by Governor Dewey about the latter's further usefulness in the national picture—it has been assumed that Mr. Eisenhower will say sometime between now and 1956 that he does not want to run again. Four years in the White House is likely to prove a grueling experience for a man who reluctantly accepted political office in 1952 and who may figure that, at the age of 66 in 1956, he will want to travel around the world and enjoy some leisure.

But Dwight Eisenhower, on the other hand, is a soldier, and something of the same influence which caused him to listen to the urgings of friends that he allow his name to be entered in New Hampshire primaries in March 1952 as a public service may be felt again by him when the question of running for a second term comes up. In any event, the decision is not likely to be made known until close to the time for the 1956 Republican convention.

If the Eisenhower administration is fairly successful and the President is personally very popular, the pressure upon him will be almost irresistible to accept a second nomination and keep the country from being handed back to "corruption and communism"—the political criticism voiced in 1952 against the Democrats. To begin a second term at the age of 66 will make him two years younger than when President Truman retired, and it wasn't age that influenced the latter to bow out but political considerations.

Governor Dewey has been the center of a factional fight inside the Republican party. When he was a candidate for the presidency, he ran ahead of his party in Congress in both 1944 and 1948. While bitterness has arisen between the Dewey and Taft factions, this antagonism would be largely absorbed if the New York governor came to the cabinet in Washington and began to work with all factions of the party.

What cabinet post for Governor Dewey? He has been mentioned for secretary of State in the event that his close friend, John Foster Dulles, tired of the job—and the secretary is going at a pretty fast pace these days in hard work and exhausting trips to various parts of the world.

Ideal Attorney General

There is always the possibility that a vacancy may occur on the Supreme Court of the United States, which it might be logical to name Attorney General Brownell, an excellent lawyer and a man of judicial temperament. If the attorney generalship became vacant, Governor Dewey would be a natural choice. For, as district attorney in New York, he made a great record against the criminal elements and is noted for his ability not only as a prosecutor but as an organizer.

It could be, too, that the New York governor might be willing to go on the supreme bench himself, as Governor Hughes did in 1908, but if that happened Mr. Dewey would take himself out of the running for the presidency. He is much too young and vigorous a man to retire from national politics.

The news dispatches from New York say Governor Dewey plans next year to resume the practice of law. That's a plausible way to describe his temporary plans—but Thomas E. Dewey some day will be a political figure again and on the national rather than the state level.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Miner's Voice

The effort of Communist unions to hold their control of segments of labor is encountering opposition in the rank and file of the workers. Among the many fights on this question is that in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The "Miner's Voice," a publication issued by miners in Butte, Mont., has been sent to me and right on the front page is the heading "Fight's on for Free Unionism." That is an accurate and correst phrase, "Free Unionism," for under communism there is no free unionism, the workers are slaves in the hands of an elite controlled by a political party.

The most objectionable Communist-controlled union in this country is the U. E., the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. This Communist-dominated union still holds contracts with such important companies as General Electric, contracts authorized by the National Labor Relations Board. Expelled from the CIO, these Communist unions are recognized by business and government, but the workers are rebelling against them.

The Butte Miner's Union in their 1953 convention, raised this issue. Let me quote:

"Today, in 1953, the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. is expelled from the main stream of organized labor, expelled on charges of Communist influence and isolated from the bulk of organized labor . . . Membership has dropped to nearly half of what it was in 1946. At the recent convention in St. Louis there were only 212 delegates representing . . . 82 local unions. While the reports at the convention did not disclose the sorry record of organizational defeats in which the international lost dozens of bargaining certification elections they did show that the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. was raided in 50 properties this year."

In a word, the workers are leaving another Communist-controlled and dominated union. Not business, not the government fights these enemies of our country, but the workers leave them, joining other unions or taking their locals elsewhere.

The Butte Union asks:

"Why did Mine-Mill lose nearly half of its former membership? Why did several dozens of local unions leave Mine-Mill from 1947 to 1950? Why did Mine-Mill then have to fight off raids by CIO and AFL Unions almost in every section of its jurisdiction in the United States and Canada? Why all the dissention (sic), fights, secession, expulsions, controversies, investigations, costly legal battles, raids, election losses, resignation of opposition officers, undermining and firing of persons who differ in political opinion and other disorders which took place in Mine-Mill during the past few years?"

And they give the answer:

"It is no secret that dissention over the injection of the Communist party line into the program and policies of the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. caused three waves of secession and the general distrust the international union is suffering now."

There is another point to all this. The American worker is a patriotic citizen who does not regard himself as a proletarian. He often owns his own home; belongs to a church alongside the very boss for whom he works; his children go to high school and college. He votes in elections and sometimes runs for public office. He resents being made into a class-conscious stooge.

So he resents being classified as an agent of a foreign enemy. He recents anyone turning his union into an agency of a foreign enemy. This is what the Butte miners have to say on this subject:

"The official publication has not reflected the social, economic, and political thinking of the membership and has pursued a Communist 'blame America' — 'hate America' line on peace and other international issues."

This looks like a good fight for elementary Americanism against the control of a union by a foreign power. In the Fort Monmouth investigation of the McCarthy Committee, it is known that even in such a sensitive area, where our radar developments took place, a Communist union was organized. This will all come out in detail when the hearings are open and will shock the country even as the Rosenberg trial shocked America. Communists, on orders of a foreign foe, could, if permitted to dominate a union, at a critical moment, use this power to interfere with American production. The Communist-controlled union ought to be forbidden absolutely in this country.

TAIPEI, Formosa

The mist delicately veiling the steep mountainside (which everyone professionally called the 'impact area" suddenly ravelled and shredded into wisps. The tough, grinning soldiers of the Chinese gun team, who had come to this through years of war and from distant provinces, stirred into a bustle of activity under their befronded camouflage net.

From the other side of the beanfield, the wiry young battery executive officer began shouting the count harshly and loudly. The gun team leader responded, while the spade-holder at the tail of the gun carriage opened his mouth comically wide, to protect his ear drums from the noise of firing. "Fire," bellowed the exec.

Three guns crashed out at once, and soon dust plumed up from the distant mountainside. The divisional commander, smart, soldierly and a graduate of Leavenworth, grinned his pleasure. The division's American liaison officer, a cheerful young major fresh from the line in Korea, turned to the Chinese general happily to say the shooting was "Damn good for the first round." The gun team leader, grinning too, patted his .75 pack Howitzer, while his number two man cleared the gun and rammed home the second shell.

This little scene was typical of a good many scenes of a day spent visiting one of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's poorer divisions, which is just being brought up to combat-worthiness. One remembered the Chinese army of the past — the roped and beaten files of new recruits that the gun team had once walked with; the starveling tatterdemalions that they became as uniform; the wretched, maltreated equipment that was all they had; the careless, ignorant officers who stole their pay and rice. For one who so remembered, the scene in the bean-field was profoundly moving.

Much Accomplished

But the sharp contrast between past and present does not justify mere vague enthusiasm. The generalissimo, the prime minister, Gen. Chen Cheng, who began the army re-organization, and the brilliantly able army commander, Gen. Sun Li-jen, have done great things with the help of the American Military Advisory Group under General Chase. Yet it is important to realize very precisely just what those things are and what they mean.

From the beaten remnants of 45 armies, then, they have formed 28 Chinese divisions, of which approximately 21 are included in the American aid program. By the wise insistence of Gen. Sun Li-jen, these are light divisions, adapted to move over the gruelling, almost roadless Chinese terrain. They have a full strength of 11,000 men, a sensible minimum of mechanized transport, and one battalion of .75's as divisional artillery. These divisions are in turn backed up, at the army level, by battalions of 105's as army artillery plus some tanks.

The troops are properly fed, regularly paid, reasonably housed, and continuously and toughly trained, which they appear to enjoy. All the American advisers agree, with an enthusiasm rare among American officers in their position, that these Chinese soldiers will fight and fight well, if and when they are called upon to do so.

In the last year, the generalissimo's air force of approximately eight groups has also made immense strides under the determined leadership of Gen. Wang Shuming, "Tiger" Wang of the old days, who used to make the miraculous Chinese air warning net somehow work with no visible assets but string and chewing gum.

Three Debit Items

To be sure, all but a few of the planes are obsolete types — mainly F51's, F47's and B25's — and the air warning system is pitifully inadequate. But the spirit and training of the air outfits are excellent. The air adviser, Col. Edward Rector, one of the finest American flyers in China in the last war, rates the majority of the pilots as equal to the men of our own air force. Rector believes further that nothing but more training is needed to bring the whole force up to this level of proficiency. And better planes and warning equipment are on the way.

Such are the credit items of the balance sheet. The debits are of three kinds. In the first place, because of the treacheries of his generals in the fighting on the mainland, the generalissimo has sought to strengthen his personal control of his armed forces. The instruments of control are the combined supply force under General Wang Chen-chou and the political department under the generalissimo's son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo. Both agencies are responsible directly to Chiang Kai-shek himself.

The combined supply force might work very well under such a man as the famous Chinese war time chief of ordnance, Gen. Yu Ta-wei. Unfortunately Gen. Wang Chen-chou is a not very competent palace favorite. Consequently this vital service has many of the defects of the Chinese army in its worst period.

As for the political department, it is simply a system of political commissars. At first, every order given by a unit commander actually had to be countersigned by the unit commissar. Now American persuasion has led to reform. Since Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo is singularly able as well as singularly tough, the system now works fairly well, except in one respect. It promotes political interference in the army. This is the secon big debit item on the balance sheet, which forms a subject in itself and must be discussed in a subsequent report.

As for the third and final item on the debit side, it can be stated bleakly and simply. These Chinese forces on Formosa are not ready.

Hatred By The Book

Last May 8, the East German Communist party listed 178 terms of abuse verboten to the comrades in their comments on the United States and other nations of the West. The list amounted to an admission of the lengths to which the Cominform's hate-America campaign had gone, but its suppression fooled only the most gullible. Some elements in the Kremlin obviously needed a breathing spell.

Now a new list of permissible epithets has been issued by German Communists. There is one set to be applied to Americans, another to Britons, and so on. These "general expressions" are to be used by party officials, the order says. They are "well suited for use in popular gatherings and discussion groups in view of their picturesque nature."

Americans, for instance, may now be called "monkey killers." Picturesque, eh? Or "exploiters of epidemics." Or "lice breeders." or "mass poisoners." The Moscow leaders of the unsoaped have a great taste for the picturesque.

"Boogie-woogie tramps" is a little better. "Chewing-gum characters" may have a touch of the picturesque, and "delirious lunatics"—i.e., dizzy dopes—at least has a touch of lightness. But most of the expressions which party officials must now use against Americans drip with venom. For instance: "Mass poisoners, gas-chamber ideologists, breeders of trichinosis, arsenic mixers, leprous heroes, exploiters of epidemics."

What these add up to is that Americans are demented fiends. The party line on Britons is a bit different. They are to be called "conceited dandies, paralytic sycophants, carrion-eating servile imitators, playboy soldiers" and similar sansculotte epithets. Also "gang of women murderers." Also "archcowards and collaborators." Also, quaintly enough, by the traditional sneer of aristocrats against their aroused people—"degenerate rabble."

The alert reader will have noted one curious thing about these official epithets. Communist propaganda generally attacks the "ruling circles" of non-Communist nations, but proclaims love for the workers and the people of the same countries. These epithets, however, are aimed at the people and the workers of Britain and America. Total hatred is the party line now.

Safer, If Not Fewer

The best way to avoid being killed or seriously injured in an automobile accident is not to have one. But this, like most gratuitous advice, is easier to preach than to practice.

Cars are not mechanically infallible, roads are not always safe or in perfect repair, drivers are subject to wavering attention or slow reflexes. And a perfect driver in a perfect car on a perfect road may be trapped by the unpredictable and unavoidable madness of another motorist.

Cars and roads, and drivers, have been made safer. Speed and safety regulations are better enforced than formerly. In terms of miles driven, auto accidents are being reduced. But how much further is it possible to go along these lines? Has the time come to shift emphasis from outright prevention of smashups to making them less deadly?

William W. Harper of Pasadena, who has investigated thousands of accidents for insurance companies and police, thinks so. Most of the victims of the accidents he has looked into could have been spared serious injury, he believes, if certain precautions had been taken.

Two types of injuries, he insists, could be made less serious—and the two add up to 80 or 90 per cent of serious injuries. One type is the result of being thrown around inside the car, the other from being thrown out of the car. Both types could be prevented in a great many cases by wearing safety belts.

Car interiors, Harper says, should be designed for safety. Attaching car seats firmly would protect many car passengers from being propelled into windshields. Projecting knobs on the dashboard may look small and harmless, but they have fatally penetrated many a skull when a crash came.

With such precautions, if they worked as well as Harper anticipates, serious injuries or fatalities in automobile accidents could be reduced 80 or 90 per cent.

Cliffhanger Football

The National Collegiate Athletic Association is still trying to work out a compromise between diminishing gate receipts at college games and the drawing power of television. The NCAA is beset on one side by college athletic directors who say that TV is killing them financially, and on the other by a possible government anti-trust suit for refusing individual members of the NCAA the right of telecasting games on their own.

Saturday's experiment was still another effort to discover whether the fans like what they see. Instead of the "game of the week," fans across the nation saw portions of four good games. Games televised in part were one Eastern, two Midwest and one Southern.

To accomplish this sports extravaganza the National Broadcasting Company set up an elaborate control center at Chicago into which the games were fed direct from the four stadiums. Fans saw the first portion of the Cornell-Princeton game, which started first, then the Midwestern and Southern games. Thereafter the fans were taken from one game to another, the switch being dictated by the interest of the moment.

It may be that this type of program is the answer to the NCAA's problems, but this is doubtful. The majority of people who view football via TV are proponents of one team, or one conference, or one section.

How is it possible for a viewer to keep the games straight with constant switching from one to another? There may be a cliffhanger finish, with the score tied and the clock running out. Will the NCAA gain many friends if the screen suddenly dissolves to show another game?

That New York racketeer who continued to operate from prison appears to have known guys who knew guys, judging by the list of his visitors.

If requests for Agriculture Secretary Benson's resignation were limited to those willing to replace him the number would drop off sharply.

Communist agents smuggled U. S. engraving plates out of the country on which were printed hundreds of millions of dollars worth of occupation currency. Stealing the gold at Fort Knox would have been more trouble, presumably.

How To Keep Well

Poor Eyesight Plagued Pepys And Johnson

Historians usually stress the deeds of famous men and omit the trifling details that make them human beings. Samuel Pepys, for example, had to stop writing his diary when he was 36 years old because of failing vision. He behaved like any one else who begins to have difficulty seeing on reaching middle age and finds that glasses are in order. Pepys was unable to obtain the lenses he needed even after consulting the greatest spectacle maker of that era.

Early in life Pepy's right eye was injured while firing a cannon in the salute to Charles II but the mishap apparently was not serious. Later, his eyes were bothered by light and he was unable to read for more than a few minutes. According to the English ophthalmologist, Dr. P. H. Beattie, even the lighted candles at the theater led to pain altho he tried green spectacles, oiled paper, and an eyeshade as protective devices. The condition also was aggravated by drinking too much. In those days, bloodletting was a cure-all and the fact that relief followed the removal of 14 ounces of blood makes us wonder how much of his trouble was psychological in origin.

Nevertheless, the inability to read and write proved incapacitating to the young author. He had tried everything the times offered, including the use of paper tubes invented by a man who was going blind with cataracts and who wrote in the local press about the help he received from this gadget. But Pepys was not benefited because, to the best of our knowledge, he was farsighted and had marked astigmatism. As he grew older he appeared to develop second sight and improved sufficiently to study and attend his official duties until his death at age 70.

Samuel Johnson also had eye trouble dating from birth. He stated in his autobiografy that he came into the world "a poor diseased infant almost blind." In his second year of life he was taken to an oculist and six months later, a diagnosis of tuberculosis of the glands of the neck was made. He was taken to Queen Anne for the "royal touch," which did no good; the piece of gold given him at the ceremony is among the treasures of the British museum today.

The glandular tuberculosis suggests that Johnson's eyes may have been afflicted with the same disease. They were sore as tho he had conjunctivitis and, in addition, there was poor vision in one eye which ultimately became useless. His marked nearsightedness and astigmatism forced him to scrutinize closely every one he met and everything he saw. Feelings were hurt by this mannerism, particularly when an artist asked him to comment on a portrait or landscape. Once while seated at the table next to the celebrated Mrs. Cholmondeley he "took hold of her hand in the middle of dinner and held it close to his eye, wondering at the delicacy and whiteness, till with a smile she asked, 'Will you give it to me again when you have done with it?'"

All of us have encountered individuals with defects of this nature and it is fun to speculate what our modern women might have thought on being introduced to Dr. Johnson. His actions might have labeled him a silly old fool unless it was realized that he could not see.

VITAMIN B12 AND WEIGHT

T. L. writes: Will taking vitamin B12 help to put on weight?

REPLY

Not to my knowledge. Several years ago we published an article on how this vitamin was being used to stimulate the growth of children. Since then I have not seen any follow-up reports and it may be that the substance is not living up to the original hopes along this line.

SPINAL CORD CHANGES

J. M. writes: What causes degenerative changes in the spinal cord?

REPLY

The cause is not known although in some types it is believed that the circulation to the spinal cord is faulty. Each degenerative area represents a patch that has lost its circulation through hemorrhage or clot in a blood vessel.

SWOLLEN FINGERS

T. V. writes: Can a person have dropsy of the fingers?

REPLY

Yes, but in most instances it occurs as part of a generalized dropsy. The fingers may swell when a vein is obstructed in much the same way as puffiness of the legs after a clot develops in a vein in this area.

HEAD LICE

Mrs. R. writes: Are some children more susceptible than others to head lice?

REPLY

The dirty child is more susceptible but, in the right set of circumstances, few of us would escape. Some persons seem to be more attracted to insects than others, and this may apply also to lice.

Frankie Costello Leaving Prison Today; Cattlemen Cool Toward Benson's Canned Meat; Ex-Senator McKellar Reminisces About Ike

WASHINGTON — Kingpin gambler Frankie Costello, who gets out of Milan, Mich., federal penitentiary today, has been a model prisoner. He received a few special favors, but only a few.

When he entered prison two days after Christmas last year, Costello arrived late at night in a Bureau of Prison's bus, a departure from normal practice, aimed to avoid waiting photographers and newsmen.

During his two weeks' quarantine in the admission unit, Costello was bombarded with offers of candy, cigarets, magazines from other prisoners. To them he was a hero. He turned all offers down, made it plain he wanted to be an ordinary prisoner.

After quarantine Costello was assigned to the white cell-house instead of the usual dormitory. There is a waiting list for the white cell-house and prisoners get on the list because of merit. Frankie, however, didn't have to wait. He found on arrival that three inmates had completely scrubbed down the cell for him, at which point he decided to follow the line of least resistance and let others work for him if they wanted to.

Costello's prison job was that of sorting other inmates' dirty socks—which got a laugh from everybody.

Costello was paid considerable deference by the guards, but was never placed on meritorious good time—a status whereby a prisoner can reduce his sentence for exceptionally good work. He was allowed the privilege of having visits from his attorneys, which, aside from admission to the white cell-house instead of the dormitory, was about the only privilege he got.

Once during his incarceration, Costello was taken to New York City under guard to face an income tax charge.

Upon release from Milan today, Costello faces possible deportation.

On July 21, 1947, this writer reported that Costello had falsified his naturalization papers when he stated that he had never been previously convicted — having been convicted of carrying a concealed weapon. Subsequent investigation caused Attorney General James McGranery to place Costello on the list for deportation.

It is not known as yet what action Attorney General Brownell will take on this aspect of the Costello case.

Beef For Schools

As a result of falling cattle prices, American school children are now eating more canned meat than ever before in history. For what harassed Secretary of Agriculture Benson is doing is buying up canned beef and turning it over to the school lunch program. He is also buying great quantities of canned meat for the armed services.

While this is helpful, it doesn't satisfy the cattlemen. They point out that this program supports the meat-packers but not necessarily the farmer. The spread between what the farmer gets for cattle on the hoof and what the housewife pays for meat is too great.

On the other hand, poor Erza Benson is betwixt and between. If he buys surplus cattle he has to feed them—and he can't put many head of Herefords out in front of the Washington Monument to graze. Or if he buys cattle and slaughters them he has to store the carcasses, and refrigeration costs money.

Military Buck-Passing

Tennessee's famed ex-Sen. Kenneth McKellar returned to Washington the other day to "protect" TVA from the power lobbies.

During his 42 years on Capitol Hill McKellar participated in more back-stage maneuvers and closed-door sessions than any man alive today.

Despite his age, generally believed to be about 85, McKellar's memory is remarkable, and at lunch the other day, he launched on one of his oral trips through history.

"Y'know," he said, "most military men delegate too much authority. They let somebody else do the job for them.

"Back toward the end of the Hoover administration, I was on the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee that handled Army funds. One day the chief of staff, General MacArthur, came up to testify. He brought two generals, a colonel and a major with him.

"MacArthur was always a good witness," McKellar recalled. "He had most of the answers on his fingertips. But finally Senator McNary of Oregon stumped him with a question about Army research on new gun mounts. General MacArthur and his aides all turned to the major for the answer. But the major didn't know the answer.

"Well, that major gave us a big, friendly smile and said he'd have his staff dig up the answer and get it to the committee.

"A couple of weeks passed and we still didn't have the answer," McKellar continued. "It was time to make out our report so we phoned General MacArthur. He explained that the major was handling the whole matter. A staff member phoned the major and was told that a lieutenant was working on the answer.

"Well, finally just before we sent our report to the printer, a lieutenant arrived with the answer on the gun mounts. Everybody in the Army, it seems, had pushed the job off on his assistant. The lieutenant was the only man who knew what was going on. Not even the major knew the answer, yet he was the man who had promised to bring us the information. The major just delegated too much of his own work to his subordinates—and they let him down.

"That little story is interesting today," McKellar added with a grin. "The major's name was Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Thomas E. Dewey's reported decision not to run for re-election as governor of New York in November 1954 is an important development in national politics. He is known to have made up his mind last year that he wouldn't run again, but he has deferred any announcement and probably will not make it formally till next spring.

The significance of the Dewey retirement may be this: the New York governor will be able to take a position in the Eisenhower cabinet if a vacancy develops. Then, if President Eisenhower decides not to be a candidate for renomination, the opportunity would be open to Mr. Dewey to try for the nomination from inside the government. As a cabinet officer, he would be in the limelight and would be getting valuable experience in national affairs.

Four Years Enough Perhaps

For several months now—particularly since President Eisenhower made a cryptic remark at a public dinner attended earlier this year by Governor Dewey about the latter's further usefulness in the national picture—it has been assumed that Mr. Eisenhower will say sometime between now and 1956 that he does not want to run again. Four years in the White House is likely to prove a grueling experience for a man who reluctantly accepted political office in 1952 and who may figure that, at the age of 66 in 1956, he will want to travel around the world and enjoy some leisure.

But Dwight Eisenhower, on the other hand, is a soldier, and something of the same influence which caused him to listen to the urgings of friends that he allow his name to be entered in New Hampshire primaries in March 1952 as a public service may be felt again by him when the question of running for a second term comes up. In any event, the decision is not likely to be made known until close to the time for the 1956 Republican convention.

If the Eisenhower administration is fairly successful and the President is personally very popular, the pressure upon him will be almost irresistible to accept a second nomination and keep the country from being handed back to "corruption and communism"—the political criticism voiced in 1952 against the Democrats. To begin a second term at the age of 66 will make him two years younger than when President Truman retired, and it wasn't age that influenced the latter to bow out but political considerations.

Governor Dewey has been the center of a factional fight inside the Republican party. When he was a candidate for the presidency, he ran ahead of his party in Congress in both 1944 and 1948. While bitterness has arisen between the Dewey and Taft factions, this antagonism would be largely absorbed if the New York governor came to the cabinet in Washington and began to work with all factions of the party.

What cabinet post for Governor Dewey? He has been mentioned for secretary of State in the event that his close friend, John Foster Dulles, tired of the job—and the secretary is going at a pretty fast pace these days in hard work and exhausting trips to various parts of the world.

Ideal Attorney General

There is always the possibility that a vacancy may occur on the Supreme Court of the United States, which it might be logical to name Attorney General Brownell, an excellent lawyer and a man of judicial temperament. If the attorney generalship became vacant, Governor Dewey would be a natural choice. For, as district attorney in New York, he made a great record against the criminal elements and is noted for his ability not only as a prosecutor but as an organizer.

It could be, too, that the New York governor might be willing to go on the supreme bench himself, as Governor Hughes did in 1908, but if that happened Mr. Dewey would take himself out of the running for the presidency. He is much too young and vigorous a man to retire from national politics.

The news dispatches from New York say Governor Dewey plans next year to resume the practice of law. That's a plausible way to describe his temporary plans—but Thomas E. Dewey some day will be a political figure again and on the national rather than the state level.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Miner's Voice

The effort of Communist unions to hold their control of segments of labor is encountering opposition in the rank and file of the workers. Among the many fights on this question is that in the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The "Miner's Voice," a publication issued by miners in Butte, Mont., has been sent to me and right on the front page is the heading "Fight's on for Free Unionism." That is an accurate and correst phrase, "Free Unionism," for under communism there is no free unionism, the workers are slaves in the hands of an elite controlled by a political party.

The most objectionable Communist-controlled union in this country is the U. E., the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America. This Communist-dominated union still holds contracts with such important companies as General Electric, contracts authorized by the National Labor Relations Board. Expelled from the CIO, these Communist unions are recognized by business and government, but the workers are rebelling against them.

The Butte Miner's Union in their 1953 convention, raised this issue. Let me quote:

"Today, in 1953, the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. is expelled from the main stream of organized labor, expelled on charges of Communist influence and isolated from the bulk of organized labor . . . Membership has dropped to nearly half of what it was in 1946. At the recent convention in St. Louis there were only 212 delegates representing . . . 82 local unions. While the reports at the convention did not disclose the sorry record of organizational defeats in which the international lost dozens of bargaining certification elections they did show that the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. was raided in 50 properties this year."

In a word, the workers are leaving another Communist-controlled and dominated union. Not business, not the government fights these enemies of our country, but the workers leave them, joining other unions or taking their locals elsewhere.

The Butte Union asks:

"Why did Mine-Mill lose nearly half of its former membership? Why did several dozens of local unions leave Mine-Mill from 1947 to 1950? Why did Mine-Mill then have to fight off raids by CIO and AFL Unions almost in every section of its jurisdiction in the United States and Canada? Why all the dissention (sic), fights, secession, expulsions, controversies, investigations, costly legal battles, raids, election losses, resignation of opposition officers, undermining and firing of persons who differ in political opinion and other disorders which took place in Mine-Mill during the past few years?"

And they give the answer:

"It is no secret that dissention over the injection of the Communist party line into the program and policies of the I. U. of M. M. & S. W. caused three waves of secession and the general distrust the international union is suffering now."

There is another point to all this. The American worker is a patriotic citizen who does not regard himself as a proletarian. He often owns his own home; belongs to a church alongside the very boss for whom he works; his children go to high school and college. He votes in elections and sometimes runs for public office. He resents being made into a class-conscious stooge.

So he resents being classified as an agent of a foreign enemy. He recents anyone turning his union into an agency of a foreign enemy. This is what the Butte miners have to say on this subject:

"The official publication has not reflected the social, economic, and political thinking of the membership and has pursued a Communist 'blame America' — 'hate America' line on peace and other international issues."

This looks like a good fight for elementary Americanism against the control of a union by a foreign power. In the Fort Monmouth investigation of the McCarthy Committee, it is known that even in such a sensitive area, where our radar developments took place, a Communist union was organized. This will all come out in detail when the hearings are open and will shock the country even as the Rosenberg trial shocked America. Communists, on orders of a foreign foe, could, if permitted to dominate a union, at a critical moment, use this power to interfere with American production. The Communist-controlled union ought to be forbidden absolutely in this country.

Chen Cheng, who began the army re-organization, and the brilliantly able army commander, Gen. Sun Li-jen, have done great things with the help of the American Military Advisory Group under General Chase. Yet it is important to realize very precisely just what those things are and what they mean.

From the beaten remnants of 45 armies, then, they have formed 28 Chinese divisions, of which approximately 21 are included in the American aid program. By the wise insistence of Gen. Sun Li-jen, these are light divisions, adapted to move over the gruelling, almost roadless Chinese terrain. They have a full strength of 11,000 men, a sensible minimum of mechanized transport, and one battalion of .75's as divisional artillery. These divisions are in turn backed up, at the army level, by battalions of 105's as army artillery plus some tanks.

The troops are properly fed, regularly paid, reasonably housed, and continuously and toughly trained, which they appear to enjoy. All the American advisers agree, with an enthusiasm rare among American officers in their position, that these Chinese soldiers will fight and fight well, if and when they are called upon to do so.

In the last year, the generalissimo's air force of approximately eight groups has also made immense strides under the determined leadership of Gen. Wang Shuming. "Tiger" Wang of the old days, who used to make the miraculous Chinese air warning net somehow work with no visible assets but string and chewing gum.

Three Debit Items

To be sure, all but a few of the planes are obsolete types — mainly F51's, F47's and B25's — and the air warning system is pitifully inadequate. But the spirit and training of the air outfits are excellent. The air adviser, Col. Edward Rector, one of the finest American flyers in China in the last war, rates the majority of the pilots as equal to the men of our own air force. Rector believes further that nothing but more training is needed to bring the whole force up to this level of proficiency. And better planes and warning equipment are on the way.

Such are the credit items of the balance sheet. The debits are of three kinds. In the first place, because of the treacheries of his generals in the fighting on the mainland, the generalissimo has sought to strengthen his personal control of his armed forces. The instruments of control are the combined supply force under General Wang Chen-chou and the political department under the generalissimo's son, Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo. Both agencies are responsible directly to Chiang Kai-shek himself.

The combined supply force might work very well under such a man as the famous Chinese war time chief of ordnance, Gen. Yu Ta-wei. Unfortunately Gen. Wang Chen-chou is not very competent palace favorite. Consequently this vital service has many of the defects of the Chinese army in its worst period.

As for the political department, it is simply a system of political commissars. At first, every order given by a unit commander actually had to be countersigned by the unit commissar. Now American persuasion has led to reform. Since Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo is singularly able as well as singularly tough, the system now works fairly well, except in one respect. It promotes political interference in the army. This is the secon big debit item on the balance sheet, which forms a subject in itself and must be discussed in a subsequent report.

As for the third and final item on the debit side, it can be stated bleakly and simply. These Chinese forces on Formosa are not ready.

Communists Crack Down On Privately Owned Industries Within Red China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—The Communists once more are cracking down on what is left of Chinese private industry in Red China, and confiscation may be the next step.

They have revived the old "five antis" campaign which last year sucked hundreds of millions of dollars out of private industry, but ended disastrously for the Reds.

The five evils which the Reds once more are campaigning against are tax evasion, bribery, cheating, theft of state property and theft of state economic secrets.

In their campaign last year the Communists brought private industry to a standstill and fined it so heavily it was unable to meet payrolls. Hundreds of Chinese owners and managers were driven to suicide by the early summer of 1952. Unemployment spread.

The campaign was hurriedly called off. The government even lent money to some mills to get them running again.

Months later it leaked out that the Reds had taken over some industries "in lieu of fines." So the campaign also was a cloaked means of expropriation.

Now in Peiping, Tientsin and Shanghai editorials have appeared saying "violations of the five evils" have been noted again. Tax evasion is supposed to be widespread. Peiping noted 5,893 cases of "tax evasion," and Shanghai reported 2,347.

It is not easy to tell what the Communists are up to. They may be simply after more taxes.

Crops were poor this year so taxes on agriculture are off. The loss had to be made up some place. Perhaps the Communists hope to wring a few more million from Chinese operators who can't sell out, can't leave, can't close down, can't in fact do anything but wait and pray.

On the other hand, the Communists may be ready to take over more private industry. They have had one more year to train workers for the job. They may be ready to step into a few thousand more private offices.

It is recalled that when Mao Tzetung seized power in China he said a period of capitalism was necessary. In due time it would give way to communism. No time limit was set.

But time now may be running out for a lot of these Chinese who still hold property in a Communist state.

The American Poultry Association was formed in 1873, and claims to be the oldest livestock organization in America.

Crops were poor this year so taxes on agriculture are off. The loss had to be made up some place. Perhaps the Communists hope to wring a few more million from Chinese operators who can't sell out, can't leave, can't close down, can't in fact do anything but wait and pray.

On the other hand, the Communists may be ready to take over more private industry. They have had one more year to train workers for the job. They may be ready to step into a few thousand more private offices.

It is recalled that when Mao Tzetung seized power in China he said a period of capitalism was necessary. In due time it would give way to communism. No time limit was set.

But time now may be running out for a lot of these Chinese who still hold property in a Communist state.

Potomac Toll Bridge Offer Upped By State

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 28 (AP)—The state upped its offer for the toll bridge across the Potomac River at Williamsport, Md. today and gave the private owners 30 days to agree.

Morris B. Bassford, Hagerstown insurance man who heads a special committee named by Gov. McKeldin to negotiate for the bridge, said it was a "final" offer. If it is turned down, Bassford said, the committee will call off its efforts.

There was no indication immediately what the officers and stockholders of the Washington and Berkeley Bridge Co. would decide to do.

The state's new offer was $45 a share for 20,000 shares or $900,000, but Bassford pointed out it will not actually cost that much.

The bridge company has between $150,000 and $200,000 in liquid assets on its books in the form of surplus and undivided profits. The state would get this money, under the terms of its offer, reducing the cost to between $700,000 and $750,000 or $35 to $37.50 a share.

The owners reported the last sale of bridge stock was at $49 a share but Bassford estimated the average price on the bulk of recent transactions was around $40 a share, perhaps as high as $42.

The state originally offered $500,000 or $25 a share but the bridge company turned it down.

Since the bridge has a gross income of about $200,000 a year, Bassford and his associates in the negotiations calculate it will pay off the $750,000 purchase price in about four years.

The committee turned down a company offer which would have had the state buy the bridge on a kind of installment plan over a five-year-period.

One prime factor in the negotiations is that Maryland already has plans to replace the old bridge —only a lane and a half wide by modern standards—with a four-lane free bridge.

It is docketed in the third four-year period of the state's new 12-year highway program. On that schedule, it would be built sometime between 1962 and 1965.

McCain indicated if the new offer for the present bridge is turned down the only alternative is to shuffle the long-range program and build the new bridge sooner.

Two Indicted For Murder

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The grand jury today indicted two Negroes for murder in the slaying of Harry Ezersky, 44-year-old neighborhood grocer found mysteriously shot to death beside his car soon after he left his store on Oct. 6.

The defendants are John E. Mitchell, 24, and James Edward Robinson, 22, who were arrested about three days after the slaying.

Police have never disclosed what circumstances led to the arrest of Mitchell and Robinson nor their theory of why Ezersky was slain.

His wallet, containing at least $1,500 in bills and another $500 in checks, still was in his pocket when he was found.

He had left his little store at 6:30 p. m., as was his habit, and walked around the corner to get into his car for the drive across town to his home in one of the better residential sections on the west side.

His car pulled out of the parking place and had gone but 20 feet when it screeched to a stop. Ezersky fell out the door beside the driver's seat onto the pavement. A bullet had ranged through his right arm into his chest and he was dead.

For years he had operated a store in the run-down slum section on the east side near Johns Hopkins Hospital. He was popular in the neighborhood.

Another Stretch Of Baltimore-D.C. Parkway Opened

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 28 (AP)— A new four-mile section of the Washington - Baltimore parkway was opened to traffic today, but not without hitch and delay.

It was the first section built by the Federal government in a joint venture with Maryland, which finished its part in July. The new stretch runs from the Jessups Road (State Route 175), about 11 miles southwest of Baltimore, to the road between Laurel and Fort Meade (State Route 602).

Workmen at the scene said the hitch was signs — signs proclaiming the speed limits, prohibiting trucks, and routing traffic through the interchanges.

They were to have been installed yesterday by the National Capital Park Service, which has jurisdiction over the Federal end of the Parkway.

Workmen said the signs arrived on the scene but the bolts were the wrong size and had to be taken back to a Bureau of Public Roads workshop at Arlington, Va.

The job of installing them began late today and the Park Service took down barriers at each end of the new stretch as soon as they were in place.

A State Roads Commission crew reported on schedule at the Jessups Road intersection at 6:30 this morning to help with the job of taking down the barriers there.

But the signs weren't up yet and the barricade remained in place. Race fans coming to Laurel were diverted to the old Washington-Baltimore Boulevard via the Jessups Road.

Also delayed was the opening of another four-mile Federal section from the Laurel-Camp Meade Road to the Laurel-Bowie Road (State Route 197). It will be ready in a few days but is not expected to carry much traffic until the Parkway is completed to Washington next Summer or Fall.

Two-thirds of the residents of Mississippi derive their living from the soil.

ARRESTED IN POISON CASE — Mrs. Louise Staszewski (right), 48, mother of eight, is shown in custody of Policewoman Eileen Hall at Meriden, Conn. Mrs. Staszewski was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to murder her husband, Anthony Staszewski, by sprinkling arsenic in his milk since April of 1952. Discovery of the poisoning was made by two young Yale doctors after physicians at a New Haven hospital were unable to find the cause of his illness. Mrs. Staszewski is being held on $25,000 bail.

Baltimore Parking Scandal Figure Dies

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—James M. Ashley, one of ten men accused by the grand jury last week when it returned charges of bribery and corruption in connection with the municipal off-street parking program, died of a heart attack at his home today. He was 55.

Ashley was a bookkeeper for Dominic Piracci and the Piracci Construction Co., builder of more than half the new downtown parking garages put up under the program.

He was accused, with Piracci, of "conspiring to obstruct justice ... by altering and falsifying the company's records and preparing a false record of the company's cash disbursements for 1953."

19 Foster Care Homes Licensed

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The State Department of Welfare said today a drive to license foster care homes in Maryland has brought 19 such institutions under supervision, but added there are probably others remaining unlicensed.

The department sent out a letter to health departments, schools, social agencies, institutions and all state's attorneys offices pointing to new license requirements effective last August.

The requirements are that all homes receiving children directly from parents or other relatives, giving overnight care to one or more children, but not more than five, must be licensed by county welfare boards.

Any home caring for more than five children must have a license directly from the State Department of Welfare, according to Miss Irene Olson, chief of the division of licensing.

The department said that since the form letters were mailed out, nine new licenses have been issued in Howard County, one in Montgomery and nine in Prince Georges.

Miss Olso said parents should refuse to place their children in nurseries which cannot produce licenses.

State Briefs

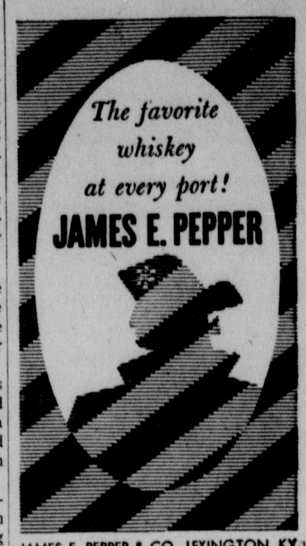

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Isabelle Diffendall Martinez, 39-year-old beauty shop and junkyard operator, went on trial in Federal District Court here today on income tax charges involving $56,000.

Government prosecutors said the attractive, blonde defendant underpaid her taxes by that amount for 1944-46.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—The superintendent of Crownsville State Hospital today described the way patients at the hospital for Negroes made whisky.

Dr. Arnold Eichert said raisins were obtained from cereal and from raisin bread and sugar from another source. They were mixed with water and set in a 2-gallon can on pipes to cook.

Eichert said an attendant suspended pending an investigation is suspected of not only allowing the "still" but also of helping with its operation.

Jury Trial Is Set Here Tomorrow

A jury trial in a Winchester Road condemnation case is set for tomorrow at 9:15 a.m. in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The State Roads Commission docketed the case against Evelyn C. Halley and Creswell O. Halley for part of their land in the path of the relocation and widening of Winchester Road.

The condemnation proceedings were filed when no agreement could be reached with the commission posting in court an amount it deemed sufficient for the property.

Two other cases remain of the dozen condemnations that were filed in connection with the new work on the road that connects Route 40 and Route 220.

On November 17 before the court the condemnation proceedings of the SRC against Garden City Homes, Inc., will be heard and two days later the case involving the property of Anthony M. Struntz will be heard.

Spider Increase Cited; Reported Unharmful

Dry, warm weather the past few weeks has caused isolated increases in spiders, it was reported yesterday.

Several local residents report the insects have invaded their homes in larger numbers but checks indicate that the spiders are not harmful. The best eradicator is the common household insect killer spray.

Spiders thrive in cool, damp places and the recent dry, warm spell has caused them to seek other habitats.

Stock Market Stages Late Recovery To Finish Ahead

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The stock market staged a late recovery today, just as it did yesterday, but this time it was able to convert the rally into a net gain on the day.

Almost all sections of the market joined in the final push ahead. In the forefront were the railroads, steels, aircrafts, oils, chemicals, rubbers, and utilities, in about that order. Motors were virtually alone in lagging behind.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 30 cents. It was off 50 cents yesterday. Today the industrial component of the average was up 30 cents, the railroads up 40 cents, and the utilities up 20 cents.

There were 1,120 individual issues traded of which 479 advanced and 358 declined with 14 new highs and 21 new lows for the year registered.

U. S. Steel, which reported high earnings yesterday after the market closed, gained 3/8 at 38 1/8.

Goodrich, which looks for a big replacement tire business in 1954, advanced 1 3/8 at 70 1/2. Sylvania Electric Products, with a 10 per cent stock dividend, gained 2 1/8 at 34 1/2.

Don't let the winter months rob you of vitality! Keep your charm at par with a good daily schedule.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Come the end of winter, will you be wan, woeful and wanting in desire to get the most out of life? Not if you take steps right now to preserve the vim, vigor and verve that you gained from your summer vacation and hours spent in the great outdoors! Don't let these precious qualities slide from you. This is the crucial moment. Plan now to embark on a program that will keep you at par and your spirits soaring.

See to it that you get your daily eight hours of sleep. See to it that you get your daily eight glasses of water. Walk outdoors at least fifteen minutes a day — and walk briskly so that you really get your circulation going. Breathe deeply during the entire period. If you can, do your walking when the sun is highest. Select a few exercises designed to trim your figure into the kind you'd most like to have. And start each morning with a brief workout with those exercises.

On Daily Schedule

Now all of that is just plain common sense, isn't it? Certainly nothing that will tax your energy or force you to crowd your schedule in order to carry out the program.

Right along with this, make a little check of your eating habits. Check to make sure that you are getting all the vitamins that you need. Are you getting your share of both yellow and green vegetables every day? Are you incorporating fruit in your daily diet? Getting your quota of calcium in skim milk or cottage cheese?

Most important of all, are you getting sufficient protein — the vital food needed by your body to rebuild and renew your cells that are being worn out and discarded daily?

Even though you are interested in reducing and doing some figure trimming and slimming, there is no excuse for not getting your daily quota of each of these foods. In fact, the best reducing diets are built right around them.

Pattern For Beauty

Remember that as you eat, sleep and exercise today, so your beauty and figure will be six months from now. That is also true of your energy. Don't allow yourself to drift into a faulty pattern of living. Don't just take the line of least resistance and live an unplanned, unscheduled kind of existence. Make each day count. Make each day a contribution toward a more interesting, exciting, more vital you.

You will not only escape the end-of-winter doldrums — you'll be a shining light among all your friends, the popular girl around whom all activities hum!

Agenda Goes Tito-Itarian

The Trieste hassel has been on the UN back-burners since they wrote the dyseptic's cook book. Back in 1946 the uptown Yugoslavs matriculated at the complaint window.

Everybody said it was a lovely day. With India abstaining.

The Security Council of the UN emergency clinic said, "Things are tough enough without stirring up more peace."

The downtown Italians of Trieste marched past some important buildings. The Yugoslavs worked up a modern brand of Tito-itarian government.

This complicated neighborliness has been spindled on the agenda seven years. It's as touchy as loose gold leaf.

Old Uncle Sam is in the middle again like an idiot on a piccolo. It's tougher than midnight for Cinderella.

A tryst in Trieste

It was the younger Cato who scored Carthage as a fielder's choice. You take your pick of civilizations and drown the rest.

Coming events use their shadows for collateral. We are granulated to that fine powder of diplomacy where the Monroe Doctrine is down to Hobson's choice.

All this has the reminiscent patina of a borrowed toothbrush. Somewhere, sometime, we have been through all this riggamatish before.

The fall of Carthage would have been very small potatoes if we hadn't given Trieste a tumble too.

And they threw enough quoits over it to hang sixteen feet of portieres.

Our arbitration must be too arbitrary. We finish with both Italians and the Yugoslavians on a unilateral spree after using our bristle tonic on their seven-year dispute.

As early as 1905, Boris Rosing proposed the use of a cathode-ray tube to reconstruct television images.

WASHINGTON — In the short period of nine months the new fiscal team in Washington has brought "honest money" to the nation.

In spite of complaints about rising interest rates and difficulty of obtaining mortgages, the American people now can be reasonably sure their cost of living a month or two from now will be no higher than it is today. The amazing part of this is that the first move to bring it about was to abolish price controls.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey began his methodical study of the inflation problem and its solution even before he took office. Government borrowing, he reasoned, causes inflation because when banks buy government bonds they use them as reserves and put more money in circulation to their loan customers without any additional products having been created along the way. When there's more money floating around to buy a flat amount of goods, up go the prices.

So, said Mr. Humphrey, let's cut down on government borrowing. First we have to cut expenses. This was promptly done — and is still going on — by the billions of dollars. But that wasn't enough. Secretary Humphrey found that out of the quarter of a trillion dollars owed by the government when he came to Washington, nearly three-fourths of it was due to be paid in five years or less. The only way to pay it was to borrow more money. But the way to prevent the same situation from coming up again was to make sure that what was borrowed this year won't have to be paid back for a long, long time.

Well, the secretary decided to sell 30-year bonds, and to get people to tie up their money that long the interest rate had to be a little higher than on shorter term bonds. Since big government borrowing tends to set a pattern in business, that's how interest rates went up a little on home mortgages.

Secretary Humphrey knows, however, that he has prevented any further situation like the 1946 $9,000 house that costs $15,000 today — the same house, but more dollars needed to pay for it. If his policy is stuck to now, today's $15,000 house will cost no more than $15,000 years from now. That means "honest money" — money that you can depend on not to depreciate in value — a noteworthy achievement by the new team in Washington.

Stock Market Stages Late Recovery To Finish Ahead

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The stock market staged a late recovery today, just as it did yesterday, but this time it was able to convert the rally into a net gain on the day.

Almost all sections of the market joined in the final push ahead. In the forefront were the railroads, steels, aircrafts, oils, chemicals, rubbers, and utilities, in about that order. Motors were virtually alone in lagging behind.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 30 cents. It was off 50 cents yesterday. Today the industrial component of the average was up 30 cents, the railroads up 40 cents, and the utilities up 20 cents.

There were 1,120 individual issues traded of which 479 advanced and 358 declined with 14 new highs and 21 new lows for the year registered.

U. S. Steel, which reported high earnings yesterday after the market closed, gained ⅜ at 38⅛.

Goodrich, which looks for a big replacement tire business in 1954, advanced 1⅜ at 70½. Sylvania Electric Products, with a 10 per cent stock dividend, gained 2⅛ at 34½.

WASHINGTON — In the short period of nine months the new fiscal team in Washington has brought "honest money" to the nation.

In spite of complaints about rising interest rates and difficulty of obtaining mortgages, the American people now can be reasonably sure their cost of living a month or two from now will be no higher than it is today. The amazing part of this is that the first move to bring it about was to abolish price controls.

Treasury Secretary Humphrey began his methodical study of the inflation problem and its solution even before he took office. Government borrowing, he reasoned, causes inflation because when banks buy government bonds they use them as reserves and put more money in circulation to their loan customers without any additional products having been created along the way. When there's more money floating around to buy a flat amount of goods, up go the prices.

So, said Mr. Humphrey, let's cut down on government borrowing. First we have to cut expenses. This was promptly done — and is still going on — by the billions of dollars. But that wasn't enough. Secretary Humphrey found that out of the quarter of a trillion dollars owed by the government when he came to Washington, nearly three-fourths of it was due to be paid in five years or less. The only way to pay it was to borrow more money. But the way to prevent the same situation from coming up again was to make sure that what was borrowed this year won't have to be paid back for a long, long time.

Well, the secretary decided to sell 30-year bonds, and to get people to tie up their money that long the interest rate had to be a little higher than on shorter term bonds. Since big government borrowing tends to set a pattern in business, that's how interest rates went up a little on home mortgages.

Secretary Humphrey knows, however, that he has prevented any further situation like the 1946 $9,000 house that costs $15,000 today — the same house, but more dollars needed to pay for it. If his policy is stuck to now, today's $15,000 house will cost no more than $15,000 years from now. That means "honest money" — money that you can depend on not to depreciate in value — a noteworthy achievement by the new team in Washington.

Ike Says He Feels Fine As He Bats Back Replies To Queries

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Before this year is over, some presidential news conferences may be televised.

But since that day still hasn't arrived, let's drop in on today's meeting with President Eisenhower for a picture of how one of democracy's most unusual institutions is conducted.

The conferences are held on the fourth floor of the old State Department Building, next door to the White House. The visitor who steps into the conference room for the first time is bound to get a shock.

For it really isn't a room, it's a gigantic doodle. The building was put up at a time when architects felt a plain board or a square foot of vacant wall space would be a disgrace. Geegaws and gimcracks tumble over each other.

In each corner stands a cast iron cupid. Over each are three round light globes, giving the impression that one has wandered into an elegant pawn shop.

Eisenhower must have synchronized his watch with the room's clock, for he is on time to the second. The 152 reporters stand as he comes in the sidedoor. Eisenhower marches to the desk in front and asks them to be seated.

Eisenhower begins with a brief statement. Nice having the king and queen of Greece drop around. Nice, too, that Israel has decided to hold up work on a hydro-electric project in accord with the advice of a U. N. truce team.

A pause. A quick turn to his left to ask: What was that third thing? Hagerty whispers. Oh, yes, the President says, the U. S. Information Service.

With this out of the way—the three subjects take less than three minutes—Eisenhower is ready for questions.

As usual, they span the world: the size of our armed services abroad, farm prices, how Eisenhower feels flattered when a candidate wants to have his picture taken with the President, Churchill, Eisenhower's health, minimum wages, the duties of a president, Gov. Dewey of New York, the high cost of living, a special session of Congress.

Asked about it, Eisenhower replies: he feels fine. True, he has had a bad elbow which has kept him from exercising, and he misses that. But he's had a series of tests, and the report is cheering for a man of his age, which is 63.

Anyone watching him would agree—he looks like a man who feels fine.

Enough Of Good Thing Is Enough

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—County fair rides are wonderful. But as far as one Penscola kid is concerned, enough is enough.

Police Patrolman E. H. McCrory said today several officers took about 600 schoolboy patrolmen to the fair. There were so many boys that each officer took a section and started putting them on various rides.

McCrory said he turned to one boy to put him on the "Titltawhirl." The boy drew back, saying, "Mr. McCrory, I'm sick."

"Why?" McCrory asked "have you ridden already."

"Yes, sir. I rode six times."

"Six times?" the officer said. "Don't you know when to get off?"

"I couldn't help it," the boy replied. "Every time I get off that thing a policeman grabs me, slaps me on the back and sets me back on it."

Five New Cardinals Get Red Hats Today

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 28 (AP)—Five of the 24 new cardinals named by Pope Pius XII last winter will receive their red hats tomorrow.

The Pope is to bestow the emblems of rank as princes of the Roman Catholic Church upon two Spanish prelates and three former apostolic nuncios who were unable to attend the special consistory here in January.

The "little consistory" will be held privately at the Pope's summer residence at Castel Gandolfo.

The five cardinals, all now assembled in Rome, are Benjamin de Arriba y Castro, archbishop of Tarragona, Spain; Fernando Quiroga y Palacios, archbishop of Santiago de Compostela, Spain; Gaetano Cicognani, former apostolic nuncio to Spain; Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli, former nuncio to France; and Pietro Ciriaci, former nuncio to Portugal.

Ike Says He Feels Fine As He Bats Back Replies To Queries

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Before this year is over, some presidential news conferences may be televised.

But since that day still hasn't arrived, let's drop in on today's meeting with President Eisenhower for a picture of how one of democracy's most unusual institutions is conducted.

The conferences are held on the fourth floor of the old State Department Building, next door to the White House. The visitor who steps into the conference room for the first time is bound to get a shock.

For it really isn't a room, it's a gigantic doodle. The building was put up at a time when architects felt a plain board or a square foot of vacant wall space would be a disgrace. Geegaws and gimcracks tumble over each other.

In each corner stands a cast iron cupid. Over each are three round light globes, giving the impression that one has wandered into an elegant pawn shop.

Eisenhower must have synchronized his watch with the room's clock, for he is on time to the second. The 152 reporters stand as he comes in the sidedoor. Eisenhower marches to the desk in front and asks them to be seated.

Eisenhower begins with a brief statement. Nice having the king and queen of Greece drop around. Nice, too, that Israel has decided to hold up work on a hydro-electric project in accord with the advice of a U. N. truce team.

A pause. A quick turn to his left to ask: What was that third thing? Hagerty whispers. Oh, yes, the President says, the U. S. Information Service.

With this out of the way—the three subjects take less than three minutes—Eisenhower is ready for questions.

As usual, they span the world: the size of our armed services abroad, farm prices, how Eisenhower feels flattered when a candidate wants to have his picture taken with the President, Churchill, Eisenhower's health, minimum wages, the duties of a president, Gov. Dewey of New York, the high cost of living, a special session of Congress.

Asked about it, Eisenhower replies: he feels fine. True, he has had a bad elbow which has kept him from exercising, and he misses that. But he's had a series of tests, and the report is cheering for a man of his age, which is 63.

Anyone watching him would agree—he looks like a man who feels fine.

Enough Of Good Thing Is Enough

PENSACOLA, Fla., Oct. 28 (AP)—County fair rides are wonderful. But as far as one Penscola kid is concerned, enough is enough.

Police Patrolman E. H. McCrory said today several officers took about 600 schoolboy patrolmen to the fair. There were so many boys that each officer took a section and started putting them on various rides.

McCrory said he turned to one boy to put him on the "Tiltta-whirl." The boy drew back, saying, "Mr. McCrory, I'm sick."

"Why?" McCrory asked "have you ridden already."

"Yes, sir. I rode six times."

"Six times?" the officer said. "Don't you know when to get off?"

"I couldn't help it," the boy replied. "Every time I get off that thing a policeman grabs me, slaps me on the back and sets me back on it."

Romney And Petersburg In Important PVC Tilt Tomorrow

Pioneer Team Hosts Vikings, Seeks 8th Win

Game Time Is 1:30; AHS-LaSalle Battle Here Looms Tossup

Coach Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers host Petersburg's Vikings Friday in an important Potomac Valley Conference engagement at 1:30 p. m. at Romney.

The unbeaten and untied Pioneers will be striving for win No. 8 against Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg eleven which has won four, lost one and tied one. Both are undefeated in conference play.

In addition to seeking a firm hold on first place in the PVC the Pioneers will be attempting to build up their prestige in the battle for Class B West Virginia state honors as they seek to regain the title they won several years ago.

Lost To LaSalle

Petersburg has chalked up three straight victories over Franklin, Ridgeley and Circleville in the PVC after playing a scoreless tie with Moorefield. The Vikings opened the season with a 13-7 win over Thomas. The only loss on the Vikings record is a 27-0 lacing at the hands of LaSalle High in Cumberland in a non-conference battle.

Romney meanwhile has rolled over seven straight opponents including Franklin 27-7, Moorefield 13-0, and Ridgeley 32-12 in the conference. Other Pioneer wins were scored over Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, University High of Morgantown and Beall.

The only other unbeaten team in the conference is defending champions Keyser High. Coach Fred Clark's Tornado eleven has a 2-0 mark in the PVC and faces games with both Romney and Petersburg later this season.

Keyser has a breather with West Virginia School for Deaf eleven Friday at Keyser.

Game Is Tossup

In the important city tussle here at Fort Hill stadium between LaSalle's Explorers and the Allegany High Campers the contest looms as a tossup.

Both elevens sport five-game winning streaks after losing on opening day and appear evenly matched.

Coach Norm Geatz' North Centre Streeters will attempt to make it six in a row for the first time in the history of the school. The Explorers have been weakened for the clash with injuries to several key players, Jack O'Rourke, Ken Lowery and Archie Lennox.

However the intense rivalry between the two schools which dates back to 1928 brings out the best in both squads. LaSalle was the victor in a 19-6 upset last year. This will be the 25th meeting of the two schools on the gridiron.

Coach Roy Lester's Campers, the visiting team Friday, will wear new blue jerseys. Co-Captains for the Also eleven will be Jim Hoffman and Eddie Joyce.

Breedlove, Wartzach Return

The Lestermen have been bolstered for the game by the return of Center Rodney Breedlove who will be playing his first game since suffering a broken wrist in the preseason practice and Fullback Freddie Wartback who missed the past three games because of illness.

On the injured list are Tackle Elis Wisler, who has a bad hand and a broken nose, and Halfback Dick Rank, the city's leading scorer. Rank has a badly bruised hip and will see limited action Friday. Wisler will not be in uniform.

Advanced tickets are on sale for the 8 p. m. game and an anticipated crowd of 6,000 will witness the fracas.

Other games Friday:
Fort Hill at Westminster
Franklin at Circleville (PVC)
Moorefield at Berkeley Springs
Ferndale at Bedford
Parsons at West Union

O'Alison Takes Jamaica Stakes

Captures $72,750 Demoiselle Feature

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Philip Godfrey's O'Alison surprised in capturing the $72,750 Demoiselle Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Jamaica race track today.

The daughter of Rosemont-Swing Time, ridden by Jim Nichols, turned on the power in the stretch to sweep to a three and a half length victory over Foxcatcher Farms' Parlo, who set a hot pace. Another four and a half lengths back of Parlo came William Goadby Loew's Case Goods. The time on a sloppy track was a moderate 1:46 2/5 for the mile and a sixteenth.

The favored Clear Dawn from the Darby Dan Farm stopped badly after running in third position behind Parlo and Case Goods most of the way.

O'Alison, winning her first stake, picked up a pot of $50,775 net for his Long Island owner, a prominent realtor. The filly is his first stakes winner.

Overlooked by the crowd of 19,474, O'Alison returned mutuels of $31.90, $18.10 and $11.20. Parlo paid $18.00 and $8.20 and Case Goods was $5.30 to show.

O'Alison was winning her third race in 14 starts. Prior to today's jackpot she had earned $10,800.

Cards Win Draft Rights Over Phillies

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28 (INS) — A three-way phone call between Cincinnati, Philadelphia and St. Louis today gave the St. Louis Cardinals prior rights over the Philadelphia Phillies in this year's baseball player draft.

The two teams were tied at the end of the National League season for third place.

During the phone call today, League President Warren Giles flipped a coin in Cincinnati. Red Bird Vice President Bill Walsingham called "heads" correctly in St. Louis and won priority for the Cardinals. Phillies Secretary George Fletcher merely listened at his end.

Jacobs Is Dropped

Steratore, a six-foot 185-pounder from Washington, Pa., has been a substitute right halfback. Jacobs was dropped to the third team.

Wins Blue Ribbon

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 28 (INS)—Lt. Col. H. M. Llewellyn of the British equestrian team today won his first blue ribbon of the Pennsylvania National Horse Show as the English entry took its fourth victory in five events.

Giel Is Named Back Of Week

Minnesotan Stars Against Michigan

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Minnesota football followers wore gloomy scowls early this season. All-America halfback Paul Giel, they brooded, wasn't calling his own signal often enough.

Giel took the hint last Saturday against Michigan and dished out the gaudiest performance of his career to win The Associated Press nod today as back of the week.

Some experts have insisted that Giel would run up even more imposing yardage totals if he weren't saddled with the signal calling chore. The contention is that Giel's genuine modesty leads him to forego his own plays near the goal line, or after one of his stylish broken field runs.

Whatever the reason, the Gophers were having trouble close to the goal line before the Michigan game. Against the Wolverines, Giel showed no reluctance to call his own pet gainers. In fact, he either passed or ran 53 times for a new conference record, scored twice from close up after leading long drives, and passed for another score.

Terps Prep To Stop So. Carolina's Passes

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 28 (AP)—The Maryland Terrapins concentrated the bulk of a 2-hour, 15-minute workout on pass defense today aimed at stopping South Carolina's ace thrower John Gramling when the two teams meet here Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash.

Frank Tamburello, freshman quarterback from Baltimore being hailed as a hot passing prospect at Maryland, played Gramling's position in the running of South Carolina plays. His passing style was described by coaches as the closest resemblance to that of the Conference leader's.

Castellani Victor

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, as hard as a concrete wall and a punching windmill when he turned on the power, smashed out a unanimous decision tonight over game Mickey Laurent of France. Castellani weighed 158 and Laurent 158½.

Yale Has Best Defense Among College Elevens

Maryland Has Yielded 3.2 Points A Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The best all-around defensive record among the nation's major colleges belongs to Yale, N. C. A. A. Service Bureau statistics revealed today, and it's the reason Coach Jordan Olivar's Elis are the only remaining unbeaten team in the East after two straight ties.

Yale ranks first in total defense, first in least points allowed, first in percentage of passes knocked down, fourth in ground defense and fourth in passing yardage yielded. The Bulldogs have permitted 151 yards a game, 2.8 points (just two touchdowns and two conversions in five games), only 25.3 per cent completions by opponents, 102.4 yards along the ground and 48.6 yards through the air.

They have come through a 0-0 game with Cornell and a 7-7 deadlock with Colgate after three straight victories, while Iowa, leader in rushing defense and runner-up punting, has been beaten twice because its pass defense has fallen down.

Although it has yielded just 83.2 yards a game to running plays, Iowa has had 55.1 per cent of the passes attempted against it succeed, ten of them for touchdowns, both the poorest marks in the country. Giving up 114 yards a game through the air has made it 100th among 111 major schools in that respect.

But in kicking, Iowa's 42.2 yards-per-punt average is exceeded only by Texas Christian's 42.5. Close behind are Georgia with 42, Utah with 41.9 and Maryland with 41. Maryland, Utah, Notre Dame, West Virginia and Baylor, the nation's only major perfect-record teams, all figure prominently in the defensive statistics.

Maryland is second to Yale in scoring, giving up 3.2 points a game. It's also third in both punt and kick-off runbacks, seventh in total defense and eighth in ground defense.

Notre Dame, with a 26.2 per cent figure, and West Virginia, 28 per cent, are the only teams besides Yale to hold the opposition below 30 per cent completions. The Irish also rank first in kickoff returns, averaging 30.2 yards for 12 runbacks. And they are sixth in total and tenth in ground defense.

Bruce, Mt. Savage Will Play Today At Westernport

Bruce High School's Bulldogs and Mt. Savage High School Bulldogs are slated to meet in a W.M.I. Soccer League game today in Westernport at 3:30 o'clock.

Coach Augie Eichhorn's team dropped a 4-3 decision to Coach Johnny Thomas' warriors earlier in the season and they'll be out to avenge that reverse today.

Bruce now holds third place with a 2-2-1 record and five points but a Mt. Savage victory would move the Indians into third place and drop the Bulldogs into fourth position. Mt. Savage's record is 2-4-0 and four points.

This game was originally set for Friday.

Baltimore Club To Receive St. Louis Franchise Today

$2,475,000 Changes Hands In Ceremony

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The new front office boss of the new Baltimore Orioles will be on hand here tomorrow for a legal shindig set up to turn the old St. Louis Browns into the Baltimore Orioles.

Arthur Ehlers, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be among those present when the franchise is handed over once and for all.

Some $2,475,000 will change hands as the scrap of paper is transferred with appropriate solemnity.

Sidney J. Schiff, attorney and Browns stockholder, will represent the old interests while American League President Will Harridge and Attorney Ben Firey preside in the name of the league.

Clarence Miles, Clyde Y. Morris and other members of the new owning syndicate are expected to accompany Ehlers, Vice President Jack Dunn and Business Manager Herb Armstrong as representatives of the newest team in major league baseball.

"The check we will turn over to Schiff represents purchase of 80 per cent of the stock in the Browns," said Miles. "Then Harridge turns over the franchise to us. It's as simple as that."

Miles also disclosed today that he had asked Robert Wilding, accountant of the old Browns, to take a similar job here. Wilding and Farm Director Bill De Witt would be the only St. Louis people retained in the new organization.

Jim Smith, Baylor Tackle, Is Named Lineman Of Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Because he played one of the greatest games in Southwest Conference history against Texas A&M Saturday, 215-pound Jim Smith of Baylor was named today the Associated Press' lineman of the week.

Smith, junior tackle from West Columbia, Tex., received some stiff opposition from Tom Bettis, Ourdue guard; Arte Hunter, Notre Dame tackle, and Jack Shanafelt, Penn tackle.

Smith played a major role in Baylor's 14-13 victory over the Aggies.

On top of everything the 20-year-old recovered a fumble that led to Baylor's winning touchdown, converted both extra points, kicked off for Baylor, and handled the punting chores. Baylor won 14-13, with Smith's conversions proving the difference.

Giant Back Hurt

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Don Menasco, defensive halfback for the New York football Giants, was placed on the injured list today and will be lost to the team for 30 days. He suffered torn ligaments in his left knee in Sunday's game with the Cleveland Browns.

$109,003 Turned Over To USO By Golf Day Sponsors

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The sum of $109,003.50 was turned over today to the USO and the National Golf Fund on behalf of the Professional Golfers Association and Life magazine as co-sponsors of National Golf Day last May.

The amount was raised by $1 entry fees paid by golfers who sought to beat the score of 1952 U. S. open champion Julis Boros.

Checks for $54,501.75, were given to the USO and the fund.

Marion Awaits Ehlers' Call

Pilot Still Has Year On Browns Contract

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Manager Marty Marion, his baseball future uncertain, is awaiting an important phone call from a man he never has met, General Manager Arthur Ehlers of the Baltimore Orioles.

He expects to learn from Ehlers whether he will continue to manage the club, the old St. Louis Browns, under a new name and new owners and in a new city.

Marion admits he doesn't know the answer but said today "One thing is sure—I'm not worried about anything."

Marion's contract as manager, a job he took over when Rogers Hornsby was fired by Bill Veeck during the 1952 season, still has a year to go.

But Marion doesn't plan to contact Ehlers to find out whether he'll be kept by the new owners or paid off on the unexpired portion of his contract.

Marion probably will have to wait a couple of weeks for that call.

In Philadelphia, where he was cleaning up loose ends of his old job as general manager of the Athletics, Ehlers said "I have nothing to say concerning Marion."

Ehlers then went on to say he'll be so busy when he takes over his new job in Baltimore Monday that "I probably won't contact Marion until a couple of weeks from now."

Romney And Petersburg In Important PVC Tilt Tomorrow

Pioneer Team Hosts Vikings, Seeks 8th Win

Game Time Is 1:30; AHS-LaSalle Battle Here Looms Tossup

Coach Dick McElwee's Romney High Pioneers host Petersburg's Vikings Friday in an important Potomac Valley Conference engagement at 1:30 p. m. at Romney.

The unbeaten and untied Pioneers will be striving for win No. 8 against Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg eleven which has won four, lost one and tied one. Both are undefeated in conference play.

In addition to seeking a firm hold on first place in the PVC the Pioneers will be attempting to build up their prestige in the battle for Class B West Virginia state honors as they seek to regain the title they won several years ago.

Lost To LaSalle

Petersburg has chalked up three straight victories over Franklin, Ridgeley and Circleville in the PVC after playing a scoreless tie with Moorefield. The Vikings opened the season with a 13-7 win over Thomas. The only loss on the Vikings record is a 27-0 lacing at the hands of LaSalle High in Cumberland in a non-conference battle.

Romney meanwhile has rolled over seven straight opponents including Franklin 27-7, Moorefield 13-0, and Ridgeley 32-12 in the conference. Other Pioneer wins were scored over Berkeley Springs, Charles Town, University High of Morgantown and Beall.

The only other unbeaten team in the conference is defending champions Keyser High. Coach Fred Clark's Tornado eleven has a 2-0 mark in the PVC and faces games with both Romney and Petersburg later this season.

Keyser has a breather with West Virginia School for Deaf eleven Friday at Keyser.

Game Is Tossup

In the important city tussle here at Fort Hill stadium between LaSalle's Explorers and the Allegany High Campers the contest looms as a tossup.

Both elevens sport five-game winning streaks after losing on opening day and appear evenly matched.

Coach Norm Geatz' North Centre Streeters will attempt to make it six in a row for the first time in the history of the school. The Explorers have been weakened for the clash with injuries to several key players, Jack O'Rourke, Ken Lowery and Archie Lennox.

However the intense rivalry between the two schools which dates back to 1928 brings out the best in both squads. LaSalle was the victor in a 19-6 upset last year. This will be the 25th meeting of the two schools on the gridiron.

Coach Roy Lester's Campers, the visiting team Friday, will wear new blue jerseys. Co-Captains for the Also eleven will be Jim Hoffman and Eddie Joyce.

Breedlove, Wartzach Return

The Lestermen have been bolstered for the game by the return of Center Rodney Breedlove who will be playing his first game since suffering a broken wrist in the preseason practice and Fullback Freddie Wartback who missed the past three games because of illness.

On the injured list are Tackle Elis Wisler, who has a bad hand and a broken nose, and Halfback Dick Rank, the city's leading scorer. Rank has a badly bruised hip and will see limited action Friday. Wisler will not be in uniform.

Advanced tickets are on sale for the 8 p. m. game and an anticipated crowd of 6,000 will witness the fracas.

Other games Friday:
Fort Hill at Westminster
Franklin at Circleville (PVC)
Moorefield at Berkeley Springs
Ferndale at Bedford
Parsons at West Union

O'Alison Takes Jamaica Stakes

Captures $72,750 Demoiselle Feature

JAMAICA, N. Y., Oct. 28 (AP)—Philip Godfrey's O'Alison surprised in capturing the $72,750 Demoiselle Stakes for 2-year-old fillies at Jamaica race track today.

The daughter of Rosemont-Swing Time, ridden by Jim Nichols, turned on the power in the stretch to sweep to a three and a half length victory over Foxcatcher Farms' Parlo, who set a hot pace. Another four and a half lengths back of Parlo came William Goadby Loew's Case Goods. The time on a sloppy track was a moderate 1:46 2/5 for the mile and a sixteenth.

The favored Clear Dawn from the Darby Dan Farm stopped badly after running in third position behind Parlo and Case Goods most of the way.

O'Alison, winning her first stake, picked up a pot of $50,775 net for his Long Island owner, a prominent realtor. The filly is his first stakes winner.

Overlooked by the crowd of 19,474, O'Alison returned mutuels of $31.90, $18.10 and $11.20. Parlo paid $18.00 and $8.20 and Case Goods was $5.30 to show.

O'Alison was winning her third race in 14 starts. Prior to today's jackpot she had earned $10,800.

Cards Win Draft Rights Over Phillies

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28 (INS) — A three-way phone call between Cincinnati, Philadelphia and St. Louis today gave the St. Louis Cardinals prior rights over the Philadelphia Phillies in this year's baseball player draft.

The two teams were tied at the end of the National League season for third place.

During the phone call today, League President Warren Giles flipped a coin in Cincinnati. Red Bird Vice President Bill Walsingham called "heads" correctly in St. Louis and won priority for the Cardinals. Phillies Secretary George Fletcher merely listened at his end.

Jacobs Is Dropped

Steratore, a six-foot 185-pounder from Washington, Pa., has been a substitute right halfback. Jacobs was dropped to the third team.

Giel Is Named Back Of Week

Minnesotan Stars Against Michigan

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Minnesota football followers wore gloomy scowls early this season. All-America halfback Paul Giel, they brooded, wasn't calling his own signal often enough.

Giel took the hint last Saturday against Michigan and dished out the gaudiest performance of his career to win The Associated Press nod today as back of the week.

Some experts have insisted that Giel would run up even more imposing yardage totals if he weren't saddled with the signal calling chore. The contention is that Giel's genuine modesty leads him to forego his own plays near the goal line, or after one of his stylish broken field runs.

Whatever the reason, the Gophers were having trouble close to the goal line before the Michigan game. Against the Wolverines, Giel showed no reluctance to call his own pet gainers. In fact, he either passed or ran 53 times for a new conference record, scored twice from close up after leading long drives, and passed for another score.

Terps Prep To Stop So. Carolina's Passes

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 28 (AP)—The Maryland Terrapins concentrated the bulk of a 2-hour, 15-minute workout on pass defense today aimed at stopping South Carolina's ace thrower John Gramling when the two teams meet here Saturday in an Atlantic Coast Conference clash.

Frank Tamburello, freshman quarterback from Baltimore being hailed as a hot passing prospect at Maryland, played Gramling's position in the running of South Carolina plays. His passing style was described by coaches as the closest resemblance to that of the Conference leader's.

Castellani Victor

CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 (AP)—Rocky Castellani, as hard as a concrete wall and a punching windmill when he turned on the power, smashed out a unanimous decision tonight over game Mickey Laurent of France. Castellani weighed 158 and Laurent 158½.

Yale Has Best Defense Among College Elevens

Maryland Has Yielded 3.2 Points A Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The best all-around defensive record among the nation's major colleges belongs to Yale, N. C. A. A. Service Bureau statistics revealed today, and it's the reason Coach Jordan Olivar's Elis are the only remaining unbeaten team in the East after two straight ties.

Yale ranks first in total defense, first in least points allowed, first in percentage of passes knocked down, fourth in ground defense and fourth in passing yardage yielded. The Bulldogs have permitted 151 yards a game, 2.8 points (just two touchdowns and two conversions in five games), only 25.3 per cent completions by opponents, 102.4 yards along the ground and 48.6 yards through the air.

They have come through a 0-0 game with Cornell and a 7-7 deadlock with Colgate after three straight victories, while Iowa, leader in rushing defense and runner-up punting, has been beaten twice because its pass defense has fallen down.

Although it has yielded just 83.2 yards a game to running plays, Iowa has had 55.1 per cent of the passes attempted against it succeed, ten of them for touchdowns, both the poorest marks in the country. Giving up 114 yards a game through the air has made it 100th among 111 major schools in that respect.

But in kicking, Iowa's 42.2 yards-per-punt average is exceeded only by Texas Christian's 42.5. Close behind are Georgia with 42, Utah with 41.9 and Maryland with 41. Maryland, Utah, Notre Dame, West Virginia and Baylor, the nation's only major perfect-record teams, all figure prominently in the defensive statistics.

Maryland is second to Yale in scoring, giving up 3.2 points a game. It's also third in both punt and kick-off runbacks, seventh in total defense and eighth in ground defense.

Notre Dame, with a 26.2 per cent figure, and West Virginia, 28 per cent, are the only teams besides Yale to hold the opposition below 30 per cent completions. The Irish also rank first in kickoff returns, averaging 30.2 yards for 12 runbacks. And they are sixth in total and tenth in ground defense.

Bruce, Mt. Savage Will Play Today At Westernport

Bruce High School's Bulldogs and Mt. Savage High School Bulldogs are slated to meet in a W.M.I. Soccer League game today in Westernport at 3:30 o'clock.

Coach Augie Eichhorn's team dropped a 4-3 decision to Coach Johnny Thomas' warriors earlier in the season and they'll be out to avenge that reverse today.

Bruce now holds third place with a 2-2-1 record and five points but a Mt. Savage victory would move the Indians into third place and drop the Bulldogs into fourth position. Mt. Savage's record is 2-4-0 and four points.

This game was originally set for Friday.

Baltimore Club To Receive St. Louis Franchise Today

$2,475,000 Changes Hands In Ceremony

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP) — The new front office boss of the new Baltimore Orioles will be on hand here tomorrow for a legal shindig set up to turn the old St. Louis Browns into the Baltimore Orioles.

Arthur Ehlers, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be among those present when the franchise is handed over once and for all.

Some $2,475,000 will change hands as the scrap of paper is transferred with appropriate solemnity.

Sidney J. Schiff, attorney and Browns stockholder, will represent the old interests while American League President Will Harridge and Attorney Ben Firey preside in the name of the league.

Clarence Miles, Clyde Y. Morris and other members of the new owning syndicate are expected to accompany Ehlers, Vice President Jack Dunn and Business Manager Herb Armstrong as representatives of the newest team in major league baseball.

"The check we will turn over to Schiff represents purchase of 80 per cent of the stock in the Browns," said Miles. "Then Harridge turns over the franchise to us. It's as simple as that."

Miles also disclosed today that he had asked Robert Wilding, accountant of the old Browns, to take a similar job here. Wilding and Farm Director Bill De Witt would be the only St. Louis people retained in the new organization.

Jim Smith, Baylor Tackle, Is Named Lineman Of Week

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Because he played one of the greatest games in Southwest Conference history against Texas A&M Saturday, 215-pound Jim Smith of Baylor was named today the Associated Press' lineman of the week.

Smith, junior tackle from West Columbia, Tex., received some stiff opposition from Tom Bettis, Ourdue guard; Arte Hunter, Notre Dame tackle, and Jack Shanafelt, Penn tackle.

Smith played a major role in Baylor's 14-13 victory over the Aggies.

On top of everything the 20-year-old recovered a fumble that led to Baylor's winning touchdown, converted both extra points, kicked off for Baylor, and handled the punting chores. Baylor won 14-13, with Smith's conversions proving the difference.

Giant Back Hurt

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Don Menasco, defensive halfback for the New York football Giants, was placed on the injured list today and will be lost to the team for 30 days. He suffered torn ligaments in his left knee in Sunday's game with the Cleveland Browns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP) — The sum of $109,003.50 was turned over today to the USO and the National Golf Fund on behalf of the Professional Golfers Association and Life magazine as co-sponsors of National Golf Day last May.

The amount was raised by $1 entry fees paid by golfers who sought to beat the score of 1952 U. S. open champion Julis Boros.

Marion Awaits Ehlers' Call

Pilot Still Has Year On Browns Contract

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Manager Marty Marion, his baseball future uncertain, is awaiting an important phone call from a man he never has met, General Manager Arthur Ehlers of the Baltimore Orioles.

He expects to learn from Ehlers whether he will continue to manage the club, the old St. Louis Browns, under a new name and new owners and in a new city.

Marion admits he doesn't know the answer but said today "One thing is sure—I'm not worried about anything."

Marion's contract as manager, a job he took over when Rogers Hornsby was fired by Bill Veeck during the 1952 season, still has a year to go.

But Marion doesn't plan to contact Ehlers to find out whether he'll be kept by the new owners or paid off on the unexpired portion of his contract.

Marion probably will have to wait a couple of weeks for that call.

In Philadelphia, where he was cleaning up loose ends of his old job as general manager of the Athletics, Ehlers said "I have nothing to say concerning Marion."

Ehlers then went on to say he'll be so busy when he takes over his new job in Baltimore Monday that "I probably won't contact Marion until a couple of weeks from now."

Fight Mob Says Robinson Won't Try Comeback

Ex-Middle Champion Is Song-Dance Man

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson will be welcome, if he returns to the ring, but the fight mob thinks he won't be back.

The retired middleweight champion, now a song and dance man, is making a series of one-night stands in armories and auditoriums with a dance band and a busload of entertainers. Each town gets a new hint that Ray is considering a comeback.

Talk of any $350,000 or $300,000 guarantee was scotched today by Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club.

"Figure it out for yourself," he said. "If he fought Bobo Olson, the champ would have to get at least the same money. At 30 per cent each, the fight would have to gross $1,400,000, considering taxes to give Robinson $300,000. We might do that outdoors, if Rocky Marciano fought some good boy on the same card.

"If Robinson decides he wants to fight some more, we'd be happy to have him, provided he demonstrates that he is in good fighting condition. And that doesn't mean just keeping his legs in shape by dancing. I'd say he'd have to have three months in the gym."

Markson did say the IBC had made offers to Robinson "from time to time" since his retirement last December. The last offer was made "in early summer."

Robinson said in Richmond, Va. last night that he was to meet with George Gainford, his manager, in Philadelphia today, the next stop on his tour. Gainford, however, was enroute to Boston with his fighter, Danny Womber.

"I don't know if he wants to fight or not," said Gainford. "I never talked fights with him since the day he quit. I don't want anybody to say some hungry manager tried to influence him in any way.

Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, Robinson's personal physician, said after Ray collapsed in the heat against Joey Maxim June 25, 1952, that Robinson would never fight again. He's sticking with that statement.

Suspended Hunting Season In W. Va. To Open Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 28 (AP) — West Virginia hunters flock back to the woods tomorrow for the first time since the hunting season was suspended on Oct. 1.

Rains throughout most of the state during the past 48 hours quenched forest fires to such an extent that the Conservation Department said hunters would be allowed to enter the woods.

Opened again were seasons on squirrels and grouse, wild turkey and waterfowl, and deer for bow and arrow enthusiasts.

Service Bound

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 28 (AP)—Bob Reynolds, All-America football back at the University of Nebraska in 1950, said today he is scheduled to report to the Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., on Monday.

Wild elephants damage rubber plantations in Malaya by pulling up young trees, reports the National Geographic Society.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (INS) — It may be true that no two spectators ever see a fight the same way, and so we have bitter disagreements after every big fight.

But it would help a little if he had a universal method of scoring a fight.

The National Boxing Association has decided to put in the uniform "must 10" system—in which the winner of a round gets ten points and the loser from 9 down to 0—on a nationwide basis after Jan. 1.

But so far the New York State Athletic commission hasn't decided whether it will go along. Seems the New York body—which probably administers more fights and fighters than all the NBA states put together — prefers its rounds-and-points scheme.

Under this plan, the decision is based on rounds won or lost unless there's a draw, in which case a supplementary point system is invoked.

In some places, we have only a referee. In others, a referee and two judges. And in some three judges and no referee. And in still others, two judges decided and the referee has no vote.

And not long ago the referee and judges agreed on a draw for the rounds won and lost but when they finished adding up the score, one fighter won by the margin of one point.

We are strongly in favor of the oldtime system where there were no judge but only a referee who did not have to bother with a score card. At the end of a fight he merely held up the hand of the fighter he thought had won and he was invariably right in the judgment of the spectators.

He didn't have to bother about a round by round score which gave so many points for aggressiveness, so many for defense, so many for harder punching, etc.

It was as simple as that. And any dozen teen-age kids taken at random off the streets would have reached the same decision.

Of course, the two-judges-system was installed with the idea that if three men were involved it would be less easy to fix a fight than it would if only the referee had the final say.

This, of course, was a fallacy. Fights have been fixed with three men operating. In competency can be just about as harmful as dishonesty.

We recall the middleweight title fight between champion Ben Jeby and Vince Dundee many years ago in which the officials were beyond the shadow of reproach.

Everybody in the house thought Dundee had won almost every round with ease. Jeby himself thought he lost and was on his way over to congratulate Dundee when the decision came—A draw. Jeby almost fell out of the ring laughing.

That's why we favor one honest, competent referee who won't have to be a mathematician to find out who won a fight.

Fight Mob Says Robinson Won't Try Comeback

Ex-Middle Champion Is Song-Dance Man

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson will be welcome, if he returns to the ring, but the fight mob thinks he won't be back.

The retired middleweight champion, now a song and dance man, is making a series of one-night stands in armories and auditoriums with a dance band and a busload of entertainers. Each town gets a new hint that Ray is considering a comeback.

"Figure it out for yourself," he said. "If he fought Bobo Olson, the champ would have to get at least the same money. At 30 per cent each, the fight would have to gross $1,400,000, considering taxes to give Robinson $300,000. We might do that outdoors, if Rocky Marciano fought some good boy on the same card.

"If Robinson decides he wants to fight some more, we'd be happy to have him, provided he demonstrates that he is in good fighting condition. And that doesn't mean just keeping his legs in shape by dancing. I'd say he'd have to have three months in the gym."

Markson did say the IBC had made offers to Robinson "from time to time" since his retirement last December. The last offer was made "in early summer."

Robinson said in Richmond, Va. last night that he was to meet with George Gainford, his manager, in Philadelphia today, the next stop on his tour. Gainford, however, was enroute to Boston with his fighter, Danny Womber.

"I don't know if he wants to fight or not," said Gainford. "I never talked fights with him since the day he quit. I don't want anybody to say some hungry manager tried to influence him in any way.

Dr. Vincent A. Nardiello, Robinson's personal physician, said after Ray collapsed in the heat against Joey Maxim June 25, 1952, that Robinson would never fight again. He's sticking with that statement.

Suspended Hunting Season In W. Va. To Open Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 28 (AP) — West Virginia hunters flock back to the woods tomorrow for the first time since the hunting season was suspended on Oct. 1.

Rains throughout most of the state during the past 48 hours quenched forest fires to such an extent that the Conservation Department said hunters would be allowed to enter the woods.

Opened again were seasons on squirrels and grouse, wild turkey and waterfowl, and deer for bow and arrow enthusiasts.

Service Bound

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 28 (AP)—Bob Reynolds, All-America football back at the University of Nebraska in 1950, said today he is scheduled to report to the Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., on Monday.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (INS) — It may be true that no two spectators ever see a fight the same way, and so we have bitter disagreements after every big fight.

But it would help a little if he had a universal method of scoring a fight.

The National Boxing Association has decided to put in the uniform "must 10" system—in which the winner of a round gets ten points and the loser from 9 down to 0—on a nationwide basis after Jan. 1.

But so far the New York State Athletic commission hasn't decided whether it will go along. Seems the New York body—which probably administers more fights and fighters than all the NBA states put together — prefers its rounds-and-points scheme.

Under this plan, the decision is based on rounds won or lost unless there's a draw, in which case a supplementary point system is invoked.

In some places, we have only a referee. In others, a referee and two judges. And in some three judges and no referee. And in still others, two judges decided and the referee has no vote.

In the recent middleweight title fight between Bobo Olson and Randy Turpin, one judge gave Olson 11 rounds, and another judge gave him only seven.

And not long ago the referee and judges agreed on a draw for the rounds won and lost but when they finished adding up the score, one fighter won by the margin of one point.

Jack Solomons, the British fight promoter, recently told us they had to drop one of their best referees because he couldn't add his points correctly.

We are strongly in favor of the oldtime system where there were no judge but only a referee who did not have to bother with a score card. At the end of a fight he merely held up the hand of the fighter he thought had won and he was invariably right in the judgment of the spectators.

He didn't have to bother about a round by round score which gave so many points for aggressiveness, so many for defense, so many for harder punching, etc.

He attended only to his duties as a referee and at the end of the fight he said "this guy won, the other guy got licked."

It was as simple as that. And any dozen teen-age kids taken at random off the streets would have reached the same decision.

Of course, the two-judges-system was installed with the idea that if three men were involved it would be less easy to fix a fight than it would if only the referee had the final say.

This, of course, was a fallacy. Fights have been fixed with three men operating. In competency can be just about as harmful as dishonesty.

We recall the middleweight title fight between champion Ben Jeby and Vince Dundee many years ago in which the officials were beyond the shadow of reproach.

Everybody in the house thought Dundee had won almost every round with ease. Jeby himself thought he lost and was on his way over to congratulate Dundee when the decision came—A draw. Jeby almost fell out of the ring laughing.

That's why we favor one honest, competent referee who won't have to be a mathematician to find out who won a fight.

Girl, Paroled In Bigamy Case, In Jail Again

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday morning sentenced an 18-year-old Keyser girl to the Pence Springs Women's Prison, Summers County, W. Va., for violating a parole granted her last Friday when he sentenced her to a similar term on a bigamy charge.

Being held in Mineral County (W. Va.) Jail at Keyser is Mrs. Betty Lou (Evans) Hicks. Authorities said she would remain there until the end of the October term of court, when she will be transferred to the Summers County institution.

Mrs. Hicks had told court that she married Jerald W. Conrad, Keyser, while she was still legally married to Sgt. Henry O. Hicks, also of Keyser. The second marriage took place while Sgt. Hicks was serving in Korea with the armed forces.

In placing the young girl on parole last Friday, Judge See ordered her not to associate with Conrad and to make arrangements for the care of the two children — one by each husband.

In a private session yesterday in his chambers, Judge See revealed that the girl had since been seen alone with Conrad and that she, Sgt. Hicks and Conrad were also seen together in a night spot on the outskirts of town.

In addition to members of the local Kiwanis Club, other men will also give their aid in carrying out the plan for boys and girls to attend church. In all such instances, Kiwanians will try to have the child go to the church of his choice.

Retired Paper Mill Workers Honored Guests At Banquet

LUKE — Retired workers of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company were honored guests at the first annual pensioners dinner held recently at the Trinity Methodist Church.

Approximately 90 of the 132 living retired workers attended. In extending a welcome to the guests, A. M. Kaiser, plant manager, said that although the workers are retired they are not forgotten. He expressed the hope that all would be present next year.

Following the serving of a roast turkey dinner by the Young Ladie's Bible Class of Trinity Methodist Church under the direction of Mrs. Robert Derham, an interesting program was given by Arno and Zola, professional magicians, and a program of vocal numbers presented by the Oakland Barber Shop Quartet.

Girl, Paroled In Bigamy Case, In Jail Again

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday morning sentenced an 18-year-old Keyser girl to the Pence Springs Women's Prison, Summers County, W. Va., for violating a parole granted her last Friday when he sentenced her to a similar term on a bigamy charge.

Being held in Mineral County (W. Va.) Jail at Keyser is Mrs. Betty Lou (Evans) Hicks. Authorities said she would remain there until the end of the October term of court, when she will be transferred to the Summers County institution.

Mrs. Hicks had told court that she married Jerald W. Conrad, Keyser, while she was still legally married to Sgt. Henry O. Hicks, also of Keyser. The second marriage took place while Sgt. Hicks was serving in Korea with the armed forces.

In placing the young girl on parole last Friday, Judge See ordered her not to associate with Conrad and to make arrangements for the care of the two children — one by each husband.

In a private session yesterday in his chambers, Judge See revealed that the girl had since been seen alone with Conrad and that she, Sgt. Hicks and Conrad were also seen together in a night spot on the outskirts of town.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 (INS) — The know-it-alls who are sure Robert Taylor is "set" for "Ben Hur" will be surprised to hear the number one choice of the MGM top brass is — Marlon Brando.

Brando's performance as Marc Antony in "Julius Caesar" is the chief reason he is leading the pack to inherit the role Ramon Navarro made immortal in the original version. Marlon has proved that he can be as effective in a toga as the next one — and minus adenoids, too.

Of course, he has "The Egyptian" to do for Darryl Zanuck — but no one, including Darryl, is quite sure when this picture will roll for 20th.

I haven't yet seen the screen version of "Top Banana," but someone who has seen it says it definitely will be a hit.

Now Eddie Alperson plans to film the Broadway hit "New Faces" in the same manner. Alperson has signed Comedian Tommy Noonan to adapt "New Faces" and Noonan is working on the script between his acting scenes with Judy Garland in "A Star Is Born." The cast will include Eartha Kitt, Virginia De Luce and others from the stage version and it will be in Cinemascope.

The highly controversial scientific series run by Life magazine "The World We Live In" has a $200,000 price tag for the movies.

This fascinating news came to light after George Pal made an offer to buy it. The publishers are said to have come back with the answer that it's worth $200,000 — or they will film it themselves.

This being the case, Pal, who has produced some of the best of the scientific thrillers, has offered to produce it for the magazine.

The series has dealt with the water, earth, air and mammal phases of evolution — not always along the lines of religious beliefs.

Whether or not Ava Gardner and Frankie Sinatra get together during the huddles her lawyer, Neil McCarthy, is insisting on — it looks as if Ava will be traveling.

She probably will leave for Rome to co-star with Humphrey Bogart in "Barefoot Countessa" for Joe Mankiewicz. She was offered the part several months ago and turned it down because she "didn't want to leave Frankie."

Although both are carrying a torch a mile high, I believe the real basis of their trouble is — two careers under one roof and too many separations.

Changes Plea, Given Two Years In Prison

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 28 (AP) —Circuit Judge J. B. Pruitt of Anderson sentenced Robert Edward Newman, 23, to two years imprisonment after he changed his plea to guilty of manslaughter in a murder trial that began today in Greenville County General Sessions Court.

Newman, a carnival worker, was accused of stabbing Joe Cunningham, a Negro to death in a drinking party April 17.

Judge Pruitt said he thought Newman should serve some time for associating with Negroes.

"God made us different," the judge said. "He could have found some white people to associate with." The judge emphasized that he had respect for the Negro race.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 28 (INS) — The know-it-alls who are sure Robert Taylor is "set" for "Ben Hur" will be surprised to hear the number one choice of the MGM top brass is — Marlon Brando.

Brando's performance as Marc Antony in "Julius Caesar" is the chief reason he is leading the pack to inherit the role Ramon Navarro made immortal in the original version. Marlon has proved that he can be as effective in a toga as the next one — and minus adenoids, too.

Of course, he has "The Egyptian" to do for Darryl Zanuck — but no one, including Darryl, is quite sure when this picture will roll for 20th.

I haven't yet seen the screen version of "Top Banana," but someone who has seen it says it definitely will be a hit.

It was screened exactly line for line, scene for scene, as Phil Silvers presented it on the stage.

Now Eddie Alperson plans to film the Broadway hit "New Faces" in the same manner. Alperson has signed Comedian Tommy Noonan to adapt "New Faces" and Noonan is working on the script between his acting scenes with Judy Garland in "A Star Is Born." The cast will include Eartha Kitt, Virginia De Luce and others from the stage version and it will be in Cinemascope.

The highly controversial scientific series run by Life magazine "The World We Live In" has a $200,000 price tag for the movies.

This fascinating news came to light after George Pal made an offer to buy it. The publishers are said to have come back with the answer that it's worth $200,000 — or they will film it themselves.

This being the case, Pal, who has produced some of the best of the scientific thrillers, has offered to produce it for the magazine.

The series has dealt with the water, earth, air and mammal phases of evolution — not always along the lines of religious beliefs.

Whether or not Ava Gardner and Frankie Sinatra get together during the huddles her lawyer, Neil McCarthy, is insisting on — it looks as if Ava will be traveling.

She probably will leave for Rome to co-star with Humphrey Bogart in "Barefoot Countessa" for Joe Mankiewicz. She was offered the part several months ago and turned it down because she "didn't want to leave Frankie."

Although both are carrying a torch a mile high, I believe the real basis of their trouble is — two careers under one roof and too many separations.

Snapshot of Hollywood collected at random:

Lyla, daughter of Comedian Benny Rubin, was married Saturday night to Joseph Shapiro.

Enrique (Heinie) Schondube has bought Charlie Chaplin's yacht, Penzance, and is taking it back to Acapulco to the yacht club.

Quite an evening of discussion of this and that at Joseph Schenck's house at dinner with Pat De Cicco and his pretty Mary Jo, Sybil and Harry Brand and this writer all taking active part.

Whatever is happening to Donald O'Connor who, a few months ago, was one of my favorite young actors in this town? He breaks dates without compunction. I've seen them come and go for so many years I can only hope that Donald, with his talent, isn't headed the way of so many other stars.

Bob Howard and Andrea Leeds must like the hotel business. They have just bought 50 acres of land in Las Vegas to build the Riviera Hotel, a seven story, 500 room building. They already own the Manor in Palm Springs.

A new twosome glimpsed at Bob Dalton's was Ricky De La Vega and Mona Knox.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I learned a couple of very interesting things about the motor vehicle code today."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—Dr. Charles Mayo's presentation of the United States' reply to Russian charges that we engaged in germ warfare in Korea was masterful, dignified and so superbly documented that it could not have failed to impress his intelligent listeners in the United Nations.

But Russia's Jacob Malik was on his feet without hesitation. In a windy rebuttal he repeated the bizarre lies which some warped genius in the Soviet Union's propaganda office first concocted in 1950. Also he put before the U. N. the fact that this country never ratified the Geneva protocol of 1925 that had to do with outlawing war by poison gas and bacteria. Malik renewed his often-rejected plea that all United Nations members that have not ratified that protocol, apparently discovered by a browsing Soviet researcher, now do so.

The purpose here, of course, is to suck us into signing something which Russia knows all too well is less than worth the paper it's written on. And, once signed, Russia could announce to its captive audience and to the rest of the world that it had (a) forced us to stop making germ warfare and (b) that we had tacitly admitted our previous guilt by now signing, and (c) Russia is a peace maker.

Malik has been around U. N. long enough to know all the tricks of stealing the show away from those who speak with wisdom and knowledge of their topic, if that topic is detrimental to the evil designs of the U.S.S.R.

For instance, all within hearing distance of Dr. Mayo knew that he had presented ultimate proof that we did not use germ warfare and "confessions" about such alleged use were obtained from American prisoners of war by means of brain-washing and unspeakable cruelties. Even the Indian delegation, whose country was sold a bill of goods by the purveyors of germ warfare charges, was impressed.

But Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, usually quick on the draw, did not follow up Dr. Mayo's dissertation by introducing a resolution. The very introduction of a resolution causes U. N. debate. We said our piece and sat down, and Malik took over for hours with his phony charges and his own ludicrous resolution that the '25 protocol now be ratified. We could have used that time with our own resolution or some other device dear to the parliamentarian's mind, and kept Malik from running the ball.

Our own resolution might have asked U. N. to submit to the International Court at the Hague Russia's conduct in repeatedly vetoing our efforts to clear our good name of these germ warfare charges, which charges are now accepted by millions who never see or hear other than the Russian side of the great debate.

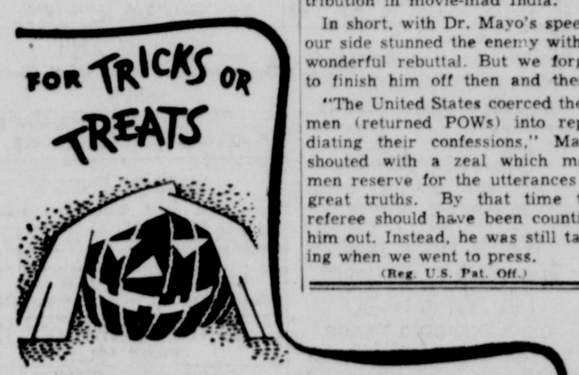

The Department of Defense has in its possession a remarkable captured film, and some sound recordings, which graphically show how American POWs were tortured into confessing they dropped germ bombs. The film was shown to a shocked group of diplomats in New York earlier in the month. It should have climaxed Dr. Mayo's speech.

This film, by the way, may be seen by accredited groups upon application to the Department of Defense, Pentagon, Washington. It is understood that the plan is to make many copies of it for distribution through this country and the world, with special attention paid to distribution in movie-mad India.

In short, with Dr. Mayo's speech our side stunned the enemy with a wonderful rebuttal. But we forgot to finish him off then and there.

"The United States coerced these men (returned POWs) into repudiating their confessions," Malik shouted with a zeal which most men reserve for the utterances of great truths. By that time the referee should have been counting him out. Instead, he was still talking when we went to press.

Barclay On Bridge

HE CAN BE THROWN IN

IT PAYS to remember the bidding and all of the plays as they develop. Later on in the hand some information you have received from previous occurrences can be the guide to the key play. Perhaps you have learned that a particular defender is the one who must win a certain card if you lead it. Acting upon that, you build an end-play whereby you throw him into the lead at just the right stage, after eliminating all obstructing cards from his hand or yours, and make him build the crucial trick for you.

	♠ 3 2 ♥ K 6 2 ♦ A K Q 6 ♣ Q 8 6 4
♠ K 6 4 ♥ Q 9 7 3 ♦ 10 9 2 ♣ J 7 2	N W E S	♠ A J 10 5 ♥ J 10 5 ♦ J 8 5 ♣ A 10 3
	♠ Q 9 8 7 ♥ A 8 4 ♦ 7 4 3 ♣ K 9 5

(Dealer: West. North - South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

If South had not known North as an extreme under-bidder, he would never have made his last call of 3-No Trumps, but would have played at 2-No Trumps. North on his first turn passed a hand which nearly all good players would open. His double on the next round did not necessarily show much, since he was in the position where his pass would have closed the auction, and he might have been reopening on much less. When South showed a bit of strength with his 1-No Trump response, North should have gone all the way to game.

But South read about an extra ace or king into North's hand, so went all the way.

The correct lead of the spade 3 from West could have made trouble for South. But the leader preferred the K for some reason. Then led the 6 to the A, East coming back with the J to the Q. South thereupon stored up the information that East had the 10 left and could be obliged to win the 9 with it. Proceeding from there, he planned a throw-in play.

First he ran four diamond tricks, noting East's discard of a heart on the last of them, then led the club 4 through the A, marked as held by East to have enough for his opening bid. When the K won that, he scored the heart K and A to eliminate that suit from East's hand, then led the spade 9. East, indeed did have to win for his side's third trick. But with nothing left except the club A-10, that worthy could only give up the game trick to the club Q. If South had, instead of the end-play, tried a club lead toward the Q, he would have been set a trick.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should South play for 7 Diamonds after the heart K is led?

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—Dr. Charles Mayo's presentation of the United States' reply to Russian charges that we engaged in germ warfare in Korea was masterful, dignified and so superbly documented that it could not have failed to impress his intelligent listeners in the United Nations.

But Russia's Jacob Malik was on his feet without hesitation. In a windy rebuttal he repeated the bizarre lies which some warped genius in the Soviet Union's propaganda office first concocted in 1950. Also he put before the U. N. the fact that this country never ratified the Geneva protocol of 1925 that had to do with outlawing war by poison gas and bacteria. Malik renewed his often-rejected plea that all United Nations members that have not ratified that protocol, apparently discovered by a browsing Soviet researcher, now do so.

The purpose here, of course, is to suck us into signing something which Russia knows all too well is less than worth the paper it's written on. And, once signed, Russia could announce to its captive audience and to the rest of the world that it had (a) forced us to stop making germ warfare and (b) that we had tacitly admitted our previous guilt by now signing, and (c) Russia is a peace maker.

Malik has been around U. N. long enough to know all the tricks of stealing the show away from those who speak with wisdom and knowledge of their topic, if that topic is detrimental to the evil designs of the U.S.S.R.

For instance, all within hearing distance of Dr. Mayo knew that he had presented ultimate proof that we did not use germ warfare and "confessions" about such alleged use were obtained from American prisoners of war by means of brain-washing and unspeakable cruelties. Even the Indian delegation, whose country was sold a bill of goods by the purveyors of germ warfare charges, was impressed.

But Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, usually quick on the draw, did not follow up Dr. Mayo's dissertation by introducing a resolution. The very introduction of a resolution causes U. N. debate. We said our piece and sat down, and Malik took over for hours with his phony charges and his own ludicrous resolution that the '25 protocol now be ratified. We could have used that time with our own resolution or some other device dear to the parliamentarian's mind, and kept Malik from running the ball.

Our own resolution might have asked U. N. to submit to the International Court at the Hague Russia's conduct in repeatedly vetoing our efforts to clear our good name of these germ warfare charges, which charges are now accepted by millions who never see or hear other than the Russian side of the great debate.

The Department of Defense has in its possession a remarkable captured film, and some sound recordings, which graphically show how American POWs were tortured into confessing they dropped germ bombs. The film was shown to a shocked group of diplomats in New York earlier in the month. It should have climaxed Dr. Mayo's speech.

This film, by the way, may be seen by accredited groups upon application to the Department of Defense, Pentagon, Washington. It is understood that the plan is to make many copies of it for distribution through this country and the world, with special attention paid to distribution in movie-mad India.

In short, with Dr. Mayo's speech our side stunned the enemy with a wonderful rebuttal. But we forgot to finish him off then and there.

"The United States coerced these men (returned POWs) into repudiating their confessions," Malik shouted with a zeal which most men reserve for the utterances of great truths. By that time the referee should have been counting him out. Instead, he was still talking when we went to press.

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
Pass	Dbl.	Pass	1 NT
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

If South had not known North as an extreme under-bidder, he would never have made his last call of 3-No Trumps, but would have played at 2-No Trumps. North on his first turn passed a hand which nearly all good players would open. His double on the next round did not necessarily show much, since he was in the position where his pass would have closed the auction, and he might have been reopening on much less. When South showed a bit of strength with his 1-No Trump response, North should have gone all the way to game. But South read about an extra ace or king into North's hand, so went all the way.

The correct lead of the spade 3 from West could have made trouble for South. But the leader preferred the K for some reason. Then led the 6 to the A, East coming back with the J to the Q. South thereupon stored up the information that East had the 10 left and could be obliged to win the 9 with it. Proceeding from there, he planned a throw-in play.

First he ran four diamond tricks, noting East's discard of a heart on the last of them, then led the club 4 through the A, marked as held by East to have enough for his opening bid. When the K won that, he scored the heart K and A to eliminate that suit from East's hand, then led the spade 9. East, indeed did have to win for his side's third trick. But with nothing left except the club A-10, that worthy could only give up the game trick to the club Q. If South had, instead of the end-play, tried a club lead toward the Q, he would have been set a trick.

How should South play for 7-Diamonds after the heart K is led?

Glass Firm Options Site For Expansion

Cumberland One Of Four Areas Where Industry May Be Located

A large eastern corporation has taken options on land in the Cumberland area for possible construction of a new industrial plant, a spokesman for the firm announced last night.

The announcement, as released for publication, follows:

"The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has optioned property at Cumberland, Md., and at three locations in other states, as possible sites for future expansion.

"All are presently under consideration and there are no definite plans for action in the near future."

This firm is one of several industrial prospects developed by Albert H. Hargreaves, industrial location consultant for the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. Hargreaves has been in contact with the firm for several months in an effort to interest them in building a new plant in the Cumberland area, and also has been working unceasingly in an effort to obtain other new industries for this city and the immediate vicinity.

He has explained that most of this activity must be kept in confidence. Cumberland newspapers, however, have been kept abreast of developments.

Like many other Cumberlanders, the Cumberland newspapers have been aware of countless rumors concerning the location of the Pittsburgh Plate and Glass plant here, but in the interest of the area's economic growth, to prevent false optimism, and in compliance with a request of the Industrial Promotion Committee, the papers are publishing only such announcements as are authorized.

COL. B. H. EVANS JR.

Area Officer Promoted To Full Colonel

Benjamin H. Evans Jr., of Lonaconing, has been promoted from the rank of Lieutenant Colonel to Colonel.

The announcement was made recently by the Department of the Army. Col. Evans served five years in World War II, one year with the Quartermaster of the 15th Army in Europe, which participated in the Battle of the Bulge and the final drive into Germany.

He is a graduate of the University of Maryland; the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.; the Quartermaster Subsistence School, Chicago, Ill.; and the Advanced Officer Training School at Fort Lee, Va.

Since 1950 he has been serving three months each year as instructor at the Command and General Staff School at Fort George G. Meade, Md.

Health Workers Provide Many Services Here

State Report Shows Varied Activities

Hundreds of clinics were held last year by the Allegany County Health Department, according to a state report on public health activities in Maryland during 1952.

Infant clinics provided health services to 593, with an average of three visits from each baby. Another 727 children were admitted to pre-school clinics, at which 1,679 visits were made.

In the school program, 199 children were examined by physicians and another 3,474 were inspected by public health nurses.

Innoculations provided to children included 1,413 innoculations for diphtheria and 352 for smallpox.

Services for crippled children, which include seizure, heart, hearing, speech and vision, were provided in 68 clinics, with 1,413 patient visits. There were 56 children hospitalized and 553 physiotherapy treatments were given.

Mental health services were provided for 110 persons, with an average of three visits for each.

Dental clinics totaled 385 and provided examinations for 3,892 children and treatment for 796 children.

New cases of tuberculosis reported here last year totaled 43. Most were discovered through the 6,644 X-rays taken in a mass survey and 1,636 full sized pictures taken by the Health Department. Chest clinics totaled 118, attended by 225 persons. There were 16 persons admitted to tuberculosis hospitals.

Venereal disease control work included 103 venereal disease clinic sessions attended by 667 patients. New cases of syphilis reported totaled 50. Rapid treatments were given to 17 and the others were treated by private physicians. Health officials checked on another 80 contacts and lapsed cases.

The Medical Care program, planned to provide health services for those who cannot afford to pay, aided 2,770 persons.

Health nurses made 9,131 visits, including 3,824 on health supervision, 404 maternity, 140 for crippled children, 898 for tuberculosis, 97 on venereal disease work, 830 to check on communicable diseases and 2,938 on non-communicable diseases.

Local Radio Club To Meet Tonight

A regular meeting of the Mountain Amateur Radio Club will be held this evening at 7:30 in the Red Cross Room in the Union Street County Building.

The second in a series of talks on basic radio will be given by one of the members, according to Walter S. Gatrell, president.

Other business to be discussed will be the winter's activities and possible location of permanent quarters.

Gatrell said anyone interested in radio is invited to attend the meeting.

KC To Hold Religious Observance

Recollection Day Is Set For Sunday

On Sunday, a Day of Recollection will be held at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church under the sponsorship of the Catholic Action Committee of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus.

W. Edward Neus, chairman, in noting that the day is also All Saint's Day, said the event will be open to all men and not just to members of the K. of C.

Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM Cap., superior of SS. Peter and Paul Monastery, will officiate at services in the church. The program will open with a high mass at 9:30 a. m. Neus said the men participating are expected to receive communion.

Following a breakfast in the parish hall, Father Jude will conduct instruction periods. The program will also include recitation of the Stations of the Cross and the Rosary.

A Holy Hour will be observed from 3 to 4 p. m., Neus added, and will be concluded with benediction. The project, according to Neus, is the first extensive program to be undertaken by the Catholic Action Committee and large delegations from Catholic parishes of the area are expected to participate in the day of prayer and meditation.

Breakfast and luncheon will be served by the ladies of the parish. Neus said that men planning to take part should make reservations by phoning either a committee member or the K. of C. Home (586) in order that arrangements for the meals can be completed.

Neus is being assisted by John W. Kreidler, Thomas B. Finan and William M. Long.

County Teachers To Meet

The annual fall meeting of the Allegany County Teachers' Association will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at Valley High School, Lonaconing. John E. Grindle, president, urges all members to be present.

Danger Of Fires Mounts Again As Woods Dry Out

Rainfall Has Only Temporary Effect

The forest fire danger began to mount again last night as moisture from Tuesday and yesterday morning's slight rainfall succumbed to parched ground and light winds.

Although the recent rains were divided unequally over the Tri-State district, the heaven-sent water did much good to crops, forests and pastures.

However, even with the hope of additional rain in darkened skies over the area last night, foresters feared the current fire danger would continue today.

Showers Not Likely

At the same time, weather observers warned that strong winds could dry out forests quickly and erase whatever benefits arose from the recent rainfall. A few more showers were forecast for the eastern part of the state yesterday, but there was little chance that more rain would hit the west portion immediately.

District Forester William H. Johnson, who returned yesterday evening from supervising patrolling of a fire in Washington County, said last night he planned no letup in watching forests.

He said the fire danger has begun to mount again and crews will begin their relentless watch over district forests again today.

Johnson said the fire danger was eased temporarily by the recent rains, but several inches of rainfall would be needed for a permanent end to the forest fire threat.

Because of the extreme dryness of the past four months, he added, the rains were absorbed by the parched ground, helped along by evaporation of light breezes. There was no runoff noted.

Robert R. Golden, local weather observer, reported total rainfall here was .42 of an inch for the two days. At Stegmaier's Orchard on Williams Road, the rain gauge noted .85 of an inch.

R. E. Weber, official observer at Oakland, reported only .18 of an inch in Garrett County and said that area had the driest October in over 50 years.

At the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, .14 of an inch of rain was recorded.

Rain Aids Crops

In areas where the rainfall was heaviest, the water helped dry pastures and winter wheat that is above ground.

Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County farm agent, said many farmers have not planted winter wheat because of the drought and will wait until next spring to plant their fields with oats.

Last night, skies were cloudy in most sections of the Tri-State district, but no rain fell. In Cumberland a few drops fell at about 6:30 p. m., but it wasn't enough to be measured.

Temperature in Cumberland yesterday ranged from a high of 72 degrees to a low of 51. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 50 per cent.

The Weather Bureau predicts mostly cloudy and cool today with high between 50 and 60 degrees in this district.

FBI Releases Trio Held Here

The trio, Carl D. Warfield, 701 Fairmont Avenue; Charles Arnold, Frostburg, and James Fazenbaker, Barton, were arrested at 11:35 p. m. Tuesday by City Detective Lt. James E. Van and an FBI agent.

All three were booked "Hold for the FBI."

Both the FBI and City Police declined comment after the men were released, but a quantity of various types of merchandise was being held at Police Headquarters in connection with the case.

Final Decisions On Valley Street Bridge Slated

Conference Planned At City Hall Tuesday

Plans for letting the contract for the Valley Street Bridge will be discussed at a meeting in City Hall next Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

Attending will be the Mayor and Council and other city officials and R. A. Gilmore, who has been in charge of detailed plans prepared by the J. E. Greiner Company, Baltimore, designers of the Bay Bridge.

Final plans and specifications, subject to minor revisions, were turned over to city officials recently.

To Advise On Timing

Gilmore is expected to advise the city officials on the cost of the bridge, based on present construction trends, and to give recommendations on the most favorable time to ask for bids.

The structure has been designed so it can be erected independently of Wills Creek channel improvement work, which has not yet reached the bridge.

Actual construction, officials said, is to be timed so that it can be built in the least possible time without disrupting the city's traffic pattern any longer than necessary.

The bridge will be a single span structure, as required by the Corps of Engineers in order to maintain the maximum speed of water coursing down Wills Creek.

Spans To Cost $600,000

A recent estimate of the cost of the span was $246,000, and the total cost of the Valley, Market and Baltimore Street bridges, all of which must be replaced with single spans, is about $600,000. This money is to be taken from local funds pledged to the Flood Control project.

Plans for the bridge include the elimination of the offset at Valley and Mechanic Streets and for shifting the center line of the span eastward to clear the city warehouse and shops.

The grade will tie into the south curb line at Mechanic Street and meet the existing grade at the north rail of the Western Maryland siding at Valley and Lee Streets.

The bridge will be an entirely new structure, replacing the bridge which was damaged by an explosion a number of years ago and later patched up as a one-way connection.

It is to be built of composite I-beam steel construction.

He is a veteran of World War I, member of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes; and St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg. He is also a member of Farrady Post 24, American Legion, Frostburg. Employes presented LaVelle two $25 bonds, a television lamp and large foot stool. W. T. Dillon, Cumberland Division storekeeper, made the presentation.

Cooper McCormick, 58, Fails To Return With Companion

Thirty volunteer firemen from Barton late last night were combing a rugged mountainous region in nearby Garrett County for a missing hunter. The organized search started about 8:30 p. m. and was continuing throughout the night.

Missing is Cooper McCormick, 58, of Barton.

According to Barton Fire Chief Calvin Lamberson, a search was organized when it became evident that McCormick was either lost or had met with a hunting accident.

McCormick went squirrel hunting yesterday morning wth a friend, James Kiddy, 28, also of Barton. According to Kiddy, he and his companion separated while hunting in the Sand Springs area of Garrett County about seven miles west of Barton. They were in the area near the Paul Colmer farm, Kiddy said.

They had agreed upon a meeting place, where Kiddy had parked his car. At the appointed time, Kiddy returned to the vehicle and waited for the older man.

When McCormick did not appear, Kiddy blew loud and long blasts on his auto horn, fired a number of shots and then looked over the area adjacent to the appointed meeting place.

Since he could not find McCormick, nor any trace of him, and it was nearing the hour of darkness, Kiddy, an inspector for the State Roads Commission, decided to return to Barton for help.

The young World War II veteran notified friends and local authorities. A check showed McCormick had not returned home. Three autos were dispatched to the area, and a search was made along roadways in three possible directions. When McCormick was not found, the autos returned and an organized search started.

The fire alarm sounded at 8:30 p. m. and a number of volunteers began combing the area. At 9:15 p. m., when it became evident more men would be needed, a second alram was sounded and a total of 30 Barton citizens undertook a trying, tiring, but systematic search over the rough terrain.

McCormick, an experienced hunter, is unmarried and makes his home with his father, Dennis McCormick and a sister, Miss Alice McCormick, who is principal of Central Elementary School at Lonaconing.

At midnight, about 30 Lonaconing volunteer firemen joined in the search, when the Barton Fire Chief called for more men. Barton officials and sportsmen held little hope of finding the missing hunter before daybreak.

Recital Planned On November 15

A recital, "Fun With Music," conducted by Dorothy White of New York City, will be held at 3:30 p. m. November 15 in Allegany High School auditorium.

The community project is being sponsored by the Music and Arts Club and the Junior Music Club of Cumberland.

The program, according to Mrs. Marguerite W. Richards, general chairman, is both entertaining and educational, and will be of cultural value to children as well as adults.

The New York artist sings, plays the piano and explains the program with the telling of stories, Mrs. Richards added.

Boy Who Wanted To Be Cowboy Ordered Home

Attempted To Steal Cars For Ride West

An 18-year-old local boy who attempted to steal a car so he could go out West and become a cowboy, today instead will go to Dayton, Ohio.

Jerry Eugene "Buck" Frantz, of 200-block Avirett Avenue, yesterday was given a suspended one-year term to the Maryland House of Correction and put on probation for two years on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick told the youth conditions of his parole are that he go to Dayton to be turned over to the custody of a cousin and that he be of good behavior.

Magistrate Dick said the youth, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was put on probation because of his ill health.

Frantz and a 15-year-old companion were arrested October 21 by City Detective Leo E. P. Law and Officer Paul E. Penrod after the youths reportedly had attempted to take three autos.

The younger boy was turned over to Juvenile Court, where his case is still pending. Frantz was given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court and had his sentence deferred until yesterday.

Magistrate Dick said Frantz told the court he and his companion had tried to take the autos so that they could go to Virginia and then out West to become cowboys. Dick said the boys planned to get jobs on a ranch.

Authorities said the two boys had attempted to take three cars by using tinfoil on the ignition wires to start the vehicles. Frantz does not know how to drive, Dick added.

Dick said Frantz was given a suspended sentence of nine months in the House of Correction on September 14 after he pleaded guilty to stealing the auto of Charles S. Catherman, 29 Prospect Square, from North Mechanic Street four days earlier.

In addition, Frantz has spent several years in federal and state penal institution since he was 11 years of age, Dick added.

Mrs. Thelma Rice, 144 Independence Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Reduction In RR Mishaps Sought In School Program

Continuing its program to reduce highway accidents at railroad intersections, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is giving 350,000 teen-age student drivers in its territories some practical reasons for exercising special caution at rail crossings.

A new, illustrated booklet, explaining why trains have the right-of-way at grade crossings, is being distributed to driver-education teachers in approximately 3,500 secondary schools throughout the 13 states served by the B & O.

The average weight of a 50-car freight train is 4,250 tons, according to the booklet, while the average passenger automobile weighs less than two tons. Moving at 30 miles per hour, the train requires 1,200 feet before it can stop, but the automobile can brake to a halt in 40 feet. The motorist, in addition, can change direction readily whereas the train, traveling on fixed rails, cannot.

"These factors emphasize how the odds are weighted against the motorist if a collision occurs," B & O President Howard E. Simpson points out. "An awareness of the odds should make drivers young and old think twice before violating common sense precautions at grade crossings."

The B & O's booklet, "Teaching the Two R's" contains additional statistics, tips for safe driving conduct at crossings, topics for classroom discussion and some suggested student projects. A cartoon-and-limerick booklet for students and a classroom poster also are being distributed in the schools.

Simpson said that the B & O prepared the materials with "a two-fold purpose — to give driver-education teachers information that will prove useful in the classroom, and to express the hope that new generations of motorists will be safer than ever as the result of their opportunity to learn to drive the right way, the safe way."

AFL Plans Study And Action On Overhead Bridge

Pledge Cooperation In Industrial Drive

American Federation of Labor officials are seeking full details on the State Roads Commission's plans for an Overhead Bridge in Cumberland and plan to take action on the proposal at a meeting here next month.

The Allegany Trades Council reported yesterday that the program, which includes the overhead facility, the Industrial Highway and West Side expressway, will be presented to the council at a meeting on November 10 at 7:30 p.m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Definite Action Set

Harry L. Hickle, acting secretary, said the council will voice its approval or disapproval of the plan at the meeting.

Plans for the Overhead Bridge study were made at a meeting of the council Tuesday, attended by officials of all major AFL locals of this area.

The council, central AFL body of this area, also voted full approval of a resolution which pledged labor's cooperation in the campaign to expand this area's industrial machine.

George Heinrich, Iron Workers Local 568, and Robert Slider, of Bakers Local 246, were named to the Legislative Council.

Legislation Planned

They were instructed to work toward the passage of a state-wide prevailing wage scale, such as was enacted for Allegany County.

The law provides that prevailing wages must be paid on all state contracts in this county. A similar policy is followed by the government.

Hickle was appointed acting secretary of the council until the annual election in December. He succeeds George E. Clark, of Iron Workers Local 568, who is working on the Albright power plant.

Glass Firm Options Site For Expansion

Cumberland One Of Four Areas Where Industry May Be Located

A large eastern corporation has taken options on land in the Cumberland area for possible construction of a new industrial plant, a spokesman for the firm announced last night.

The announcement, as released for publication, follows:

"The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has optioned property at Cumberland, Md., and at three locations in other states, as possible sites for future expansion.

"All are presently under consideration and there are no definite plans for action in the near future."

This firm is one of several industrial prospects developed by Albert H. Hargreaves, industrial location consultant for the Industrial Promotion Committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. Hargreaves has been in contact with the firm for several months in an effort to interest them in building a new plant in the Cumberland area, and also has been working unceasingly in an effort to obtain other new industries for this city and the immediate vicinity.

He has explained that most of this activity must be kept in confidence. Cumberland newspapers, however, have been kept abreast of developments.

Like many other Cumberlanders, the Cumberland newspapers have been aware of countless rumors concerning the location of the Pittsburgh Plate and Glass plant here, but in the interest of the area's economic growth, to prevent false optimism, and in compliance with a request of the Industrial Promotion Committee, the papers are publishing only such announcements as are authorized.

Danger Of Fires Mounts Again As Woods Dry Out

Rainfall Has Only Temporary Effect

The forest fire danger began to mount again last night as moisture from Tuesday and yesterday morning's slight rainfall succumbed to parched ground and light winds.

Although the recent rains were divided unequally over the Tri-State district, the heaven-sent water did much good to crops, forests and pastures.

However, even with the hope of additional rain in darkened skies over the area last night, foresters feared the current fire danger would continue today.

Showers Not Likely

At the same time, weather observers warned that strong winds could dry out forests quickly and erase whatever benefits arose from the recent rainfall. A few more showers were forecast for the eastern part of the state yesterday, but there was little chance that more rain would hit the west portion immediately.

District Forester William H. Johnson, who returned yesterday evening from supervising patrolling of a fire in Washington County, said last night he planned no letup in watching forests.

He said the fire danger has begun to mount again and crews will begin their relentless watch over district forests again today.

Johnson said the fire danger was eased temporarily by the recent rains, but several inches of rainfall would be needed for a permanent end to the forest fire threat.

Because of the extreme dryness of the past four months, he added, the rains were absorbed by the parched ground, helped along by evaporation of light oreezes. There was no runoff noted.

Robert R. Golden, local weather observer, reported total rainfall here was .42 of an inch for the two days. At Stegmaier's Orchard on Williams Road, the rain gauge noted .85 of an inch.

R. E. Weber, official observer at Oakland, reported only .18 of an inch in Garrett County and said that area had the driest October in over 50 years.

At the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, .14 of an inch of rain was recorded.

Rain Aids Crops

In areas where the rainfall was heaviest, the water helped dry pastures and winter wheat that is above ground.

Ralph F. McHenry, Allegany County farm agent, said many farmers have not planted winter wheat because of the drought and will wait until next spring to plant their fields with oats.

Last night, skies were cloudy in most sections of the Tri-State district, but no rain fell. In Cumberland a few drops fell at about 6:30 p. m., but it wasn't enough to be measured.

Temperature in Cumberland yesterday ranged from a high of 72 degrees to a low of 51. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 50 per cent.

The Weather Bureau predicts mostly cloudy and cool today with high between 50 and 60 degrees in this district.

All three were booked "Hold for the FBI."

Both the FBI and City Police declined comment after the men were released, but a quantity of various types of merchandise was being held at Police Headquarters in connection with the case.

Thirty volunteer firemen from Barton late last night were combing a rugged mountainous region in nearby Garrett County for a missing hunter. The organized search started about 8:30 p. m. and was continuing throughout the night.

Missing is Cooper McCormick, 58, of Barton.

According to Barton Fire Chief Calvin Lamberson, a search was organized when it became evident that McCormick was either lost or had met with a hunting accident..

McCormick went squirrel hunting yesterday morning wth a friend, James Kiddy, 28, also of Barton. According to Kiddy, he and his companion separated while hunting in the Sand Springs area of Garrett County about seven miles west of Barton. They were in the area near the Paul Colmer farm, Kiddy said.

They had agreed upon a meeting place, where Kiddy had parked his car. At the appointed time, Kiddy returned to the vehicle and waited for the older man.

When McCormick did not appear, Kiddy blew loud and long blasts on his auto horn, fired a number of shots and then looked over the area adjacent to the appointed meeting place.

Since he could not find McCormick, nor any trace of him, and it was nearing the hour of darkness, Kiddy, an inspector for the State Roads Commission, decided to return to Barton for help.

The young World War II veteran notified friends and local authorities. A check showed McCormick had not returned home. Three autos were dispatched to the area, and a search was made along roadways in three possible directions. When McCormick was not found, the autos returned and an organized search started.

The fire alarm sounded at 8:30 p. m. and a number of volunteers began combing the area. At 9:15 p. m., when it became evident more men would be needed, a second alram was sounded and a total of 30 Barton citizens undertook a trying, tiring, but systematic search over the rough terrain.

McCormick, an experienced hunter, is unmarried and makes his home with his father, Dennis McCormick and a sister, Miss Alice McCormick, who is principal of Central Elementary School at Lonaconing.

At midnight, about 30 Lonaconing volunteer firemen joined in the search, when the Barton Fire Chief called for more men. Barton officials and sportsmen held little hope of finding the missing hunter before daybreak.

Reduction In RR Mishaps Sought In School Program

Continuing its program to reduce highway accidents at railroad intersections, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is giving 350,000 teen-age student drivers in its territories some practical reasons for exercising special caution at rail crossings.

A new, illustrated booklet, explaining why trains have the right-of-way at grade crossings, is being distributed to driver-education teachers in approximately 3,500 secondary schools throughout the 13 states served by the B & O.

The average weight of a 50-car freight train is 4,250 tons, according to the booklet, while the average passenger automobile weighs less than two tons. Moving at 30 miles per hour, the train requires 1,200 feet before it can stop, but the automobile can brake to a halt in 40 feet. The motorist, in addition, can change direction readily whereas the train, traveling on fixed rails, cannot.

"These factors emphasize how the odds are weighted against the motorist if a collision occurs," B & O President Howard E. Simpson points out. "An awareness of the odds should make drivers young and old think twice before violating common sense precautions at grade crossings."

The B & O's booklet, "Teaching the Two R's" contains additional statistics, tips for safe driving conduct at crossings, topics for classroom discussion and some suggested student projects. A cartoon-and-limerick booklet for students and a classroom poster also are being distributed in the schools.

Simpson said that the B & O prepared the materials with "a two-fold purpose — to give driver-education teachers information that will prove useful in the classroom, and to express the hope that new generations of motorists will be safer than ever as the result of their opportunity to learn to drive the right way, the safe way."

Boy Who Wanted To Be Cowboy Ordered Home

Attempted To Steal Cars For Ride West

An 18-year-old local boy who attempted to steal a car so he could go out West and become a cowboy, today instead will go to Dayton, Ohio.

Jerry Eugene "Buck" Frantz, of 200-block Avirett Avenue, yesterday was given a suspended one-year term to the Maryland House of Correction and put on probation for two years on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick told the youth conditions of his parole are that he go to Dayton to be turned over to the custody of a cousin and that he be of good behavior.

Magistrate Dick said the youth, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was put on probation because of his ill health.

Frantz and a 15-year-old companion were arrested October 21 by City Detective Leo E. P. Law and Officer Paul E. Penrod after the youths reportedly had attempted to take three autos.

The younger boy was turned over to Juvenile Court, where his case is still pending. Frantz was given a hearing in Trial Magistrate Court and had his sentence deferred until yesterday.

Magistrate Dick said Frantz told the court he and his companion had tried to take the autos so that they could go to Virginia and then out West to become cowboys. Dick said the boys planned to get jobs on a ranch.

Authorities said the two boys had attempted to take three cars by using tinfoil on the ignition wires to start the vehicles. Frantz does not know how to drive, Dick added.

Dick said Frantz was given a suspended sentence of nine months in the House of Correction on September 14 after he pleaded guilty to stealing the auto of Charles S. Catherman, 29 Prospect Square, from North Mechanic Street four days earlier.

In addition, Frantz has spent several years in federal and state penal institution since he was 11 years of age, Dick added.

Mrs. Thelma Rice, 144 Independence Street, is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital.

AFL Plans Study And Action On Overhead Bridge

Pledge Cooperation In Industrial Drive

American Federation of Labor officials are seeking full details on the State Roads Commission's plans for an Overhead Bridge in Cumberland and plan to take action on the proposal at a meeting here next month.

The Allegany Trades Council reported yesterday that the program, which includes the overhead facility, the Industrial Highway and West Side expressway, will be presented to the council at a meeting on November 10 at 7:30 p.m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Definite Action Set

Harry L. Hickle, acting secretary, said the council will voice its approval or disapproval of the plan at the meeting.

Plans for the Overhead Bridge study were made at a meeting of the council Tuesday, attended by officials of all major AFL locals of this area.

The council, central AFL body of this area, also voted full approval of a resolution which pledged labor's cooperation in the campaign to expand this area's industrial machine.

George Heinrich, Iron Workers Local 568, and Robert Slider, of Bakers Local 246, were named to the Legislative Council.

Legislation Planned

They were instructed to work toward the passage of a state-wide prevailing wage scale, such as was enacted for Allegany County.

The law provides that prevailing wages must be paid on all state contracts in this county. A similar policy is followed by the government.

Opposition from Eastern Shore counties prevented the passage of a state-wide rule on prevailing wages several years ago.

Hickle was appointed acting secretary of the council until the annual election in December. He succeeds George E. Clark, of Iron Workers Local 568, who is working on the Albright power plant.
